Churches Announce More Special Services For Week

Additional church services for the remainder of Holy Week were announced today by churches in Circleville and other sections of Pickaway County.

The announcements follow:

* * *

ST. PHILIP'S EPISCOPAL

St. Philip's Church services and activities for the balance of Holy Week were announced by the Rev. Jack C. Bennett, rector of the parish.

Maundy Thursday, beginning at 8 p. m., there will be a celebration of The Holy Eucharist commemorating the institution of the Blessed Sacrament by Christ on the night in which He was betrayed. During the celebration, the rector will address the congregation on the meaning of the words and phrases selected from the Liturgy

The parish choir under the direction of Mrs. Howard B. Moore will sing the setting to the service and will lead the congregation in singing of hymns from the appropriate section of the hymnal.

Server and Assistant Server for the celebration will be Robert Sines and Robert Quincel, respectively. Crucifer will be Clayton Vaughan Jr.

The hours from 12 noon until 3 p. m. Good Friday will be observed by the parish family and visitors participating in the traditional three-hour service commemorating the hours Christ was on the cross. The service will consist of a series of meditations on the Seven Last Words from the Cross, with acts of devotion between each one.

The rector wishes to make known that those persons who are unable to be present for the entire three hours are free to come and go in accordance with their own schedules, providing they enter and leave the nave of the church only during the singing of hymns which will be spaced between each meditation.

More benefit will be derived from the service if each person stays as long as possible.

During the Good Friday commemoration, the Altar will be stripped of all ornaments and covered with a black frontal, and the Altar Cross will be veiled in black in accordance with the ancient custom of the Church to express the mournful aspect of the day.

The parish choir will lead the congregation in the singing of hymns from the hymnal which is appropriate for the day.

All persons of whatever religious affiliation are invited by the rector and family of St. Philip's Church to attend the Good Friday service.

The Rev. Mr. Bennett will be in the nave of the Church from 7 p. m. until 9 p. m Good Friday and Holy Saturday evenings to give counsel and help to any person who is in need and comes to the Church. Those persons who would like aid in making a more adequate spiritual preparation for the observance of Easter are especially urged to be present.

On Holy Saturday at 2 p. m. members of the Church School will meet in the parish house for an Easter Even party and the annual Egg Hunt on the Church Lawn. At 4:30 p. m., The Sacrament of Holy Baptism will be administered in the Church by the Rector to those candidates who have been duly prepared.

Members of the parish family who are bringing flowers to the Church for decoration of the Nave for Easter Day are asked by the rector and Altar Guild to have them at the Church by 10:30 a. m. Holy Saturday.

Flowers may be placed in the nave either as memorials to loved ones or in thanksgiving to God for blessings received. After the late

MOCKERY OF CHRIST

U. C. Felty Says He May Come For Meeting

County Safety Group Said One To Make Suggestions Here

Pickaway County's Safety Committee is the only group which can do anything about the county's alarming increase in traffic deaths.

The statement stressing the committee's responsibility was made by U. C. Felty, state highway department safety director in Columbus.

"You could do something if you had a good committee down there," Felty declared. "Those groups were supposed to have been organized last year on orders from Governor Frank Lausche."

William Ammer, Pickaway County prosecutor, said that the committee had been organized last year by him. But, he added, the group never got around to electing a permanent chairman.

* * *

"I HAD too much work in my own office, even though I was temporary chairman," Ammer said. "We are in the process of calling a reorganizational meeting of the committee."

Felty said he would send one of his representatives, State Patrol Sgt. Joe Wolf, here for a conference.

"Matter of fact," Felty continued, "if it will help any, I will try my darnedest to come down myself. But with the legislature in session, my time is not my own. However, I'll try."

He explained he had not yet been notified about the increase in traffic deaths in Pickaway County. The toll now stands at eight for 1955. There were only 14 deaths for the entire year of 1954 for the county.

"No doubt the matter will be brought to my attention," Felty said.

* * *

"OFFHAND," he added, "I would say that the State Patrol has just about reached the saturation point in arrests for your area."

Felty declared he was against raising the speed limit from 50 to 60 on Ohio highways. He said he testified to that effect in legislature hearings.

"I don't think the speed limit should be raised on Route 23 in your county, for example," he said. "Perhaps there are some highways in the state which could stand the 60 miles per hour speed limit."

On the question of stop signs on county roads, Felty said that it was his impression that the county engineer had to make a recommendation to the county commissioners. Then, he added, action could be taken.

The question of stop signs came up last month when an Ashville housewife was killed in a mishap at an intersection having no stop signs. The site is at Circleville-

Theory That Advertising Is 'Unprofessional' Hit

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Newspaper Assn. went on record last night in opposition to a bill which restricts the right of opticians to advertise their wares.

William J. Oertel, assistant executive director of the Ohio Newspaper Assn., told the Senate Health Committee the only persons who seem to want the proposed law are some members of the profession themselves.

Oertel likened the proposal to one now pending before the State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors. He told the committee:

"As originally established by the Legislature, the business of embalming and funeral directing was free of any restrictions against advertising. But on April 12, the Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors will hold a hearing on proposed new rules and regulations which will make the advertising of price or materials 'unprofessional conduct.' "

The ONA spokesman conceded there is no large amount of advertising done by opticians, but he said "there is some and we believe it should be allowed to continue as long as it meets the general legal requirements on advertising and is not fraudulent or obscene.

"The right of the people to know in advance what they may purchase and at what price has been an essential part of business development in our nation.

"Most of all, we do not support the artificial thesis that it is unprofessional to advertise.

"Our contention is simply this: That the Legislature should define carefully and confine the power and authority of state boards and commissions. And where there is no public need or demand expressed, it is very probable that there should be no board and no licensing law."

Church Viewed As Symbol Of Higher Beliefs

The reasoning with which men and women hold fast to the church of their choice finds a striking unity on one predominate note.

All sincere churchgoers, in one way or another, recognize in their faith a steadfast link between the passing panorama of life and all that they hope to deserve in a spiritual hereafter. And all of them thus turn to the church itself as a symbol of their guiding beliefs.

The way in which men express the solace and confidence they draw from their church attendance has been given new accent this Holy Week through a program sponsored by the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce. Under the heading, "Why I Attend Church?", the Jaycees gathered a random cross-section of views from some of the various levels in daily activity.

* * *

IN THE final article of a series on the subject, The Herald today presents the views of Circleville Mayor Robert Hedges, representing public officials. His views were expressed as follows:

"The reason I attend church is that, in worship, I can forget self. Worship includes giving thanks to God for all his blessings, confessing shortcomings, weakness of frail human nature, asking God's continued blessing of loved ones, etc.

Politicians See Ike, Adlai Opposed Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Results of state and local elections strengthened a belief among politicians today that President Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson may square off again in 1956.

Republican and Democratic national chairmen claimed good omens for their parties in conflicting statements yesterday over the outcome of balloting in Michigan, Chicago, St. Louis and smaller cities east and west.

But to many political strategists the inconclusive results were such as to indicate both parties will be looking for their strongest candidates next year.

GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall, who says he assumes Eisenhower will run again, said, "No one in the Republican party should have any delusions about the hard and tough fight we face."

Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York said yesterday he still hopes "prayerfully" Eisenhower will run. He did not say whether he had discussed the matter with the President.

Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler, maintaining strict public neutrality about his party's choice of a nominee, interpreted the election results as "a Democratic trend that is running in the United States this year."

Ex-Patrolman's Trial Nears End

IRONTON (AP)—Final arguments are expected today in the trial of former State Highway Patrolman Robert Brickles, 29, of Gallipolis, charged with second degree manslaughter in the traffic death of a policeman.

Brickles yesterday denied he was driving at the time Patrolman Carl Green of nearby Coal Grove was killed by a hit-run auto. Brickles said he got into the car, was ill and fell asleep. He was off-duty at the time.

Green, 50, was struck and killed March 5, 1954, as he stood on U. S. 2 checking the license of a driver whose car he had stopped near Ironton city limits.

Ike Signs Pacts Rearming Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed the Paris Agreements on rearming a sovereign West Germany.

In a simple ceremony in his White House office the President put his name to the two treaties ratified by the Senate last week.

The President also signed an executive agreement, which did not have to be submitted to the Senate, authorizing United States, Great Britain and France to continue to maintain armed forces on German soil. Only parliamentary action by Denmark and the Netherlands now is lacking to complete ratification by all parties of the Paris treaties and thus make them effective.

Teacher Shortage Not Felt By City

Hartman Praises Local Personnel; Says Caliber High In Circleville

A reported shortage of teachers in Ohio has had little if any effect on Circleville schools, according to an announcement by city schools superintendent George Hartman.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "we have an overabundance of applications in some fields. Our elementary school teaching staffs are complete and we have only a few high school openings."

Hartman said the caliber of teachers in the city is high. He referred to a recent state inspection report which rated Circleville teachers "above average to superior".

"Our administrators, and especially our high school principal, J. Wray Henry, were rated 'exceedingly high' in the report," Hartman declared. "And that's pretty good."

* * *

HE EXPLAINED that great care is taken in selecting teachers here. He said that the usual starting salary of $2,800 a year compares favorably with the range of $2,600 to $3,200 for the state.

'We have an easier time in getting teachers than some other areas," Hartman pointed out. "We are centrally located, not far from Columbus and we also have quite a few from here who go into teaching."

Hartman said he believed the present teacher shortage is due to two factors: private industry and increased child population.

"I think private industry created the original shortage," he said. "Teachers can sometimes earn as much as 50 per cent more in private industry and you can't blame them for getting those kind of jobs.

"The child population is growing at an alarming rate, as far as schools are concerned. By 1960, we will need 17,000 more teachers in the state just to take care of the increase alone."

* * *

HARTMAN SAID he believed industry was the main factor in developing the teacher shortage. He noted 'there was a shortage before the increase in population."

He praised the work of teachers in the city schools here. He added that Circleville has been fortunate to get new teachers of such good standing.

"We try to get teachers who set good examples by being good people," he explained. "We look for people with community and church interests because those things go to make up a stable personality."

Meanwhile, commenting on the problem of teacher supply and whether there is an acute teacher shortage throughout the state, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce points out that in the 1946-1947 school year there were 35,588 teachers serving 1,122,137 students. This compares with 53,144 teachers serving 1,506,049 students in the present 1954-1955 school year — an increase of 49 per cent in the number of teachers and 34 per cent in the number of students.

In 1946-1947 there was an overall average of 31.5 students per teacher and in 1954-1955, the overall average is below 29 students per teacher. Thirty students per teacher is the normally recognized standard for greatest efficiency.

* * *

"SINCE THE NUMBER of students per teacher has decreased," states an Ohio Chamber report, "it follows as a natural corollary that the number of teachers has increased."

Analysis of available data reflects a helpful attitude toward members of the teaching profession in Ohio since the end of World War II, an Ohio Chamber report says. However, teachers' salaries started low.

In support of this contention, the report compares average annual earnings of teachers with that of full-time industrial employees requiring comparable background training. Comparison periods used are 1946-1947 with 1953-1954.

Elementary teachers' salaries increase 72.94 per cent in the state; high school teachers had a 59.56 jump. A comparison of increases in other industries reveals the following:

Agriculture, forestry, etc., 36.95 per cent; mining, 60.50; contract construction, 67.28; manufacturing, 60.95; wholesale and retail trade, 46.17; finance, insurance and real estate, 46.34; transportation, 50.64; communications and public utilities, 57.15; and services, 41.56.

Experts Study Way To Crack Traffic Snarl

COLUMBUS (AP)—Delegates to a highway conference here yesterday heard four traffic experts suggest as many aids to easing urban traffic problems.

The panel discussed snarled city parking in the second day of the ninth annual Ohio Highway Engineering Conference.

Suggestions included:

James V. Musick, Columbus traffic engineer: Combine use of public transportation and suburban terminal parking lots.

Dr. Robert Howe, University of Cincinnati: The best way to cope with the problem is to adhere to parking regulations.

G. A. Berry, Ohio State Automobile Assn.; Finance off - street parking facilities.

D. K. Finley, Columbus Chamber of Commerce: "The only answer to the problem may ultimately be to eliminate curb parking in congested areas completely."

Berry said he believed parking meters are the best method to increase turnover of cars for much-desired curb space.

The conference, sponsored jointly by the Department of Civil Engineering at Ohio State University and the Ohio Department of Highways, ends today with a morning general session devoted to addresses on highway building.

Hop-Scotching Cop Plays Good Hunch

KENT (AP)—Because Police Sgt. Roy D. Thompson got a hunch while playing hop-scotch, a young man is in jail today charged with seven burglaries here.

Thompson was playing hop-scotch with his two young daughters on his day off when he saw a car pass his home. Something made him suspicious of the driver. He wrote the license number on the sidewalk with hop - scotch chalk.

A check showed the license number was registered to Jesse Gulledge Jr., 21, of Akron. Gulledge was out of jail on $5,000 bond on seven indictments of house burglary in adjacent Summit County.

Questioned by Kent police, he admitted seven burglaries in Kent.

Albers To Merge With Dixie Chain

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of Colonial Stores Inc. and Albers Supermarkets Inc. have announced plans to merge the firms.

Colonial supermarkets are principally in Georgia, Virginia and the Carolinas, while Albers stores are in Ohio and Kentucky. Total sales of both chains were $333 million in 1954.

Ohio Civil Defense Chiefs Changing Air Raid Signals

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Civil Defense planners have changed air raid warning signals.

Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber, state CD chief, said yesterday the new system will comprise an "alert signal" calling attention to possible attack, and a "take cover signal."

Alerting previously has been by "color" signals: yellow alert, for defense workers and officials only; red alert, meaning attack imminent, and white alert, the "all clear" signal.

Gen. Kreber said the new alert signal directs the public to tune in radio and television sets for specific instructions broadcast. The alert signal will be a steady siren blast for three to five minutes.

The "take cover" signal directs the public to quickly take the best available shelter. This signal will be a wailing tone, or a series of short siren blasts lasting three minutes.

In place of the all clear signal, Gen. Kreber said, CD officials plan to transmit this information via radio, television or telephone.

The Civil Defense chief said the latter move stemmed from the possibilities of radioactive fallout from newly developed weapons.

This fallout, he said, may occur up to 35 hours after a bomb attack and cover as far as 200 miles in varying intensity.

Since it can be detected only by radiation instruments, Gen. Kreber said, people must stay under cover until the danger is deemed past.

The Civil Defense chief said the warning change, a general move being completed in Civil Defense districts throughout the United States, is to be completed "without delay, and in no case later than in time to be utilized statewide for 'Operation Alert 1955' scheduled for June 15-16."

Bus Strike Affects Southern Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP)—Bus service of Atlantic Greyhound Corp. in parts of southern Ohio was halted today in a strike of 72 drivers affecting 1,800 other Atlantic workers spanning 10 states.

Routes affected in Ohio include eight daily runs connecting Columbus with Ironton, Waverly, Piketon, Portsmouth, Gallipolis, Ashland, Ky., and Charleston, W. Va.

Bus officials in Cincinnati said the strike would affect eight trips daily to Charleston. Bus terminal officials said passengers headed from Cincinnati to Portsmouth will be routed on another line.

Ohio Great Seal Scene Faces Probe

COLUMBUS (AP)—Four members of the Ohio House will investigate a charge in a resolution before the House that the scene of the Great Seal of Ohio, just north of Chillicothe, has been desecrated.

A resolution stating the land in front of Mt. Logan is being used as a dump was introduced by Rep. D. O. Taber (R-Gallia).

He was appointed yesterday by House Speaker Roger Cloud to look into the matter, along with Reps. Don Campbell (R-Athens), Loretta Woods (R - Scioto) and Paul Siple (D-Lawrence).

Bulk Milk Ruling Given By O'Neill

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill has ruled that restaurants may use bulk milk dispensers if glasses used to serve the milk are properly labelled.

His opinion yesterday said that a glass properly marked according to the weights and measures act is a legal container, even if filled from a bulk milk dispenser.

O'Neill said the law's purpose was not to prescribe the way milk sales are made if those matters do not affect accurate weights and measures.

Man Rearrested In Wife's Death

WARREN (AP)—Sheriff T. Herbert Thomas last night re-arrested Ernest Wall, 48, in connection with the slaying of Wall's wife at their home in Masury.

The sheriff ordered Wall jailed again after a lie detector test at the prison farm in London, Ohio. The sheriff said he would present the evidence today to Prosecutor Charles Anderson.

Mrs. Mary Wall, 38, was found shot and beaten to death in the basement of her home March 21.

Wall, who was arrested soon after the slaying and later released, said he was at work in a feed mill in Sharon, Pa., on March 21.

Lad Finds Man Telling Truth

ARCATA, Calif. (AP) — "What happens if you pull that handle?" the little boy asked the electrician making a routine check of fire alarm boxes yesterday.

"Why, all the fire trucks would come rushing right out here," answered Bill Donahue.

Ten minutes later they did. The little boy, not yet 3, was just barely able to reach that handle by standing on his shiny new red wagon.

New River Lock System Hinted

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—The Huntington Advertiser says it has learned the initial contract for building a $20 million lock system on the Ohio River at Greenup, Ky., will be awarded next August or September.

The lock and a proposed high-level dam, designed to replace four dams between Greenup and Gallipolis will cost an estimated $65 million. A U. S. District Engineers spokesman said Congress has yet to provide funds for the lock.

"VOLCANO WITH FILTER TIP"

Certain countries used to punish malcontents by throwing them into a Volcano which no doubt inspired the victim to sing the popular song hit, "Let Me Go, Lava." However, this jumbo hot foot has been discontinued and today Volcanoes are mainly Tourist Attractions or locations for Piper Laurie Movies. Last year Dr. Schwine figured that if he had a Volcano in New York he could rent it out as an Incinerator and he contacted a South American Country and made arrangements to buy their Volcano lock, stock and steam. He planned to have it cut into small pieces and mailed up here (2nd class) but due to some Post Office law about hot real estate the deal fell through. Seems a shame.

Ohio Civil Defense Chiefs Changing Air Raid Signals

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Civil Defense planners have changed air raid warning signals.

Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber, state CD chief, said yesterday the new system will comprise an "alert signal" calling attention to possible attack, and a "take cover signal."

Alerting previously has been by "color" signals: yellow alert, for defense workers and officials only; red alert, meaning attack imminent, and white alert, the "all clear" signal.

Bus Strike Affects Southern Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP)—Bus service of Atlantic Greyhound Corp. in parts of southern Ohio was halted today in a strike of 72 drivers affecting 1,800 other Atlantic workers spanning 10 states.

Routes affected in Ohio include eight daily runs connecting Columbus with Ironton, Waverly, Piketon, Portsmouth, Gallipolis, Ashland, Ky., and Charleston, W. Va.

Bus officials in Cincinnati said the strike would affect eight trips daily to Charleston. Bus terminal officials said passengers headed from Cincinnati to Portsmouth will be routed on another line.

Church Viewed As Symbol Of Higher Beliefs

The reasoning with which men and women hold fast to the church of their choice finds a striking unity on one predominate note.

All sincere churchgoers, in one way or another, recognize in their faith a steadfast link between the passing panorama of life and all that they hope to deserve in a spiritual hereafter. And all of them thus turn to the church itself as a symbol of their guiding beliefs.

The way in which men express the solace and confidence they draw from their church attendance has been given new accent this Holy Week through a program sponsored by the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce. Under the heading, "Why I Attend Church?", the Jaycees gathered a random cross-section of views from some of the various levels in daily activity.

* * *

IN THE final article of a series on the subject, The Herald today presents the views of Circleville Mayor Robert Hedges, representing public officials. His views were expressed as follows:

"The reason I attend church is that, in worship, I can forget self. Worship includes giving thanks to God for all his blessings, confessing shortcomings, weakness of frail human nature, asking God's continued blessing of loved ones, etc.

Ohio Great Seal Scene Faces Probe

COLUMBUS (AP)—Four members of the Ohio House will investigate a charge in a resolution before the House that the scene of the Great Seal of Ohio, just north of Chillicothe, has been desecrated.

A resolution stating the land in front of Mt. Logan is being used as a dump was introduced by Rep. D. O. Taber (R-Gallia).

He was appointed yesterday by House Speaker Roger Cloud to look into the matter, along with Reps. Don Campbell (R-Athens), Loretta Woods (R - Scioto) and Paul Siple (D-Lawrence).

Bulk Milk Ruling Given By O'Neill

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill has ruled that restaurants may use bulk milk dispensers if glasses used to serve the milk are properly labelled.

His opinion yesterday said that a glass properly marked according to the weights and measures act is a legal container, even if filled from a bulk milk dispenser.

O'Neill said the law's purpose was not to prescribe the way milk sales are made if those matters do not affect accurate weights and measures.

Politicians See Ike, Adlai Opposed Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Results of state and local elections strengthened a belief among politicians today that President Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson may square off again in 1956.

Republican and Democratic national chairmen claimed good omens for their parties in conflicting statements yesterday over the outcome of balloting in Michigan, Chicago, St. Louis and smaller cities east and west.

But to many political strategists the inconclusive results were such as to indicate both parties will be looking for their strongest candidates next year.

GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall, who says he assumes Eisenhower will run again, said, "No one in the Republican party should have any delusions about the hard and tough fight we face."

Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York said yesterday he still hopes "prayerfully" Eisenhower will run. He did not say whether he had discussed the matter with the President.

Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler, maintaining strict public neutrality about his party's choice of a nominee, interpreted the election results as "a Democratic trend that is running in the United States this year."

Ex-Patrolman's Trial Nears End

IRONTON (AP)—Final arguments are expected today in the trial of former State Highway Patrolman Robert Brickles, 29, of Gallipolis, charged with second degree manslaughter in the traffic death of a policeman.

Brickles yesterday denied he was driving at the time Patrolman Carl Green of nearby Coal Grove was killed by a hit-run auto. Brickles said he got into the car, was ill and fell asleep. He was off-duty at the time.

Green, 50, was struck and killed March 5, 1954, as he stood on U. S. 2 checking the license of a driver whose car he had stopped near Ironton city limits.

Ike Signs Pacts Rearming Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed the Paris Agreements on rearming a sovereign West Germany.

In a simple ceremony in his White House office the President put his name to the two treaties ratified by the Senate last week.

The President also signed an executive agreement, which did not have to be submitted to the Senate, authorizing United States, Great Britain and France to continue to maintain armed forces on German soil. Only parliamentary action by Denmark and the Netherlands now is lacking to complete ratification by all parties of the Paris treaties and thus make them effective.

Teacher Shortage Not Felt By City

Hartman Praises Local Personnel; Says Caliber High In Circleville

A reported shortage of teachers in Ohio has had little if any effect on Circleville schools, according to an announcement by city schools superintendent George Hartman.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "we have an overabundance of applications in some fields. Our elementary school teaching staffs are complete and we have only a few high school openings."

Hartman said the caliber of teachers in the city is high. He referred to a recent state inspection report which rated Circleville teachers "above average to superior".

"Our administrators, and especially our high school principal, J. Wray Henry, were rated 'exceedingly high' in the report," Hartman declared. "And that's pretty good."

* * *

HE EXPLAINED that great care is taken in selecting teachers here. He said that the usual starting salary of $2,800 a year compares favorably with the range of $2,600 to $3,200 for the state.

'We have an easier time in getting teachers than some other areas," Hartman pointed out. "We are centrally located, not far from Columbus and we also have quite a few from here who go into teaching."

Hartman said he believed the present teacher shortage is due to two factors: private industry and increased child population.

"I think private industry created the original shortage," he said. "Teachers can sometimes earn as much as 50 per cent more in private industry and you can't blame them for getting those kind of jobs.

"The child population is growing at an alarming rate, as far as schools are concerned. By 1960, we will need 17,000 more teachers in the state just to take care of the increase alone."

* * *

HARTMAN SAID he believed industry was the main factor in developing the teacher shortage. He noted 'there was a shortage before the increase in population."

He praised the work of teachers in the city schools here. He added that Circleville has been fortunate to get new teachers of such good standing.

"We try to get teachers who set good examples by being good people," he explained. "We look for people with community and church interests because those things go to make up a stable personality."

Meanwhile, commenting on the problem of teacher supply and whether there is an acute teacher shortage throughout the state, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce points out that in the 1946-1947 school year there were 35,588 teachers serving 1,122,137 students. This compares with 53,144 teachers serving 1,506,049 students in the present 1954-1955 school year — an increase of 49 per cent in the number of teachers and 34 per cent in the number of students.

In 1946-1947 there was an overall average of 31.5 students per teacher and in 1954-1955, the overall average is below 29 students per teacher. Thirty students per teacher is the normally recognized standard for greatest efficiency.

* * *

"SINCE THE NUMBER of students per teacher has decreased," states an Ohio Chamber report, "it follows as a natural corollary that the number of teachers has increased."

Analysis of available data reflects a helpful attitude toward members of the teaching profession in Ohio since the end of World War II, an Ohio Chamber report says. However, teachers' salaries started low.

In support of this contention, the report compares average annual earnings of teachers with that of full-time industrial employees requiring comparable background training. Comparison periods used are 1946-1947 with 1953-1954.

Elementary teachers' salaries increase 72.94 per cent in the state; high school teachers had a 59.56 jump. A comparison of increases in other industries reveals the following:

Agriculture, forestry, etc., 36.95 per cent; mining, 60.50; contract construction, 67.28; manufacturing, 60.95; wholesale and retail trade, 46.17; finance, insurance and real estate, 46.34; transportation, 50.64; communications and public utilities, 57.15; and services, 41.56.

New River Lock System Hinted

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—The Huntington Advertiser says it has learned the initial contract for building a $20 million lock system on the Ohio River at Greenup, Ky., will be awarded next August or September.

The lock and a proposed high-level dam, designed to replace four dams between Greenup and Gallipolis will cost an estimated $65 million. A U. S. District Engineers spokesman said Congress has yet to provide funds for the lock.

Lad Finds Man Telling Truth

ARCATA, Calif. (AP) — "What happens if you pull that handle?" the little boy asked the electrician making a routine check of fire alarm boxes yesterday.

"Why, all the fire trucks would come rushing right out here," answered Bill Donahue.

Ten minutes later they did. The little boy, not yet 3, was just barely able to reach that handle by standing on his shiny new red wagon.

Experts Study Way To Crack Traffic Snarl

COLUMBUS (AP)—Delegates to a highway conference here yesterday heard four traffic experts suggest as many aids to easing urban traffic problems.

The panel discussed snarled city parking in the second day of the ninth annual Ohio Highway Engineering Conference.

Suggestions included:

James V. Musick, Columbus traffic engineer: Combine use of public transportation and suburban terminal parking lots.

Dr. Robert Howe, University of Cincinnati: The best way to cope with the problem is to adhere to parking regulations.

G. A. Berry, Ohio State Automobile Assn.; Finance off - street parking facilities.

D. K. Finley, Columbus Chamber of Commerce: "The only answer to the problem may ultimately be to eliminate curb parking in congested areas completely."

Berry said he believed parking meters are the best method to increase turnover of cars for much-desired curb space.

The conference, sponsored jointly by the Department of Civil Engineering at Ohio State University and the Ohio Department of Highways, ends today with a morning general session devoted to addresses on highway building.

Hop-Scotching Cop Plays Good Hunch

KENT (AP)—Because Police Sgt. Roy D. Thompson got a hunch while playing hop-scotch, a young man is in jail today charged with seven burglaries here.

Thompson was playing hop-scotch with his two young daughters on his day off when he saw a car pass his home. Something made him suspicious of the driver. He wrote the license number on the sidewalk with hop - scotch chalk.

A check showed the license number was registered to Jesse Gulledge Jr., 21, of Akron. Gulledge was out of jail on $5,000 bond on seven indictments of house burglary in adjacent Summit County.

Questioned by Kent police, he admitted seven burglaries in Kent.

Albers To Merge With Dixie Chain

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of Colonial Stores Inc. and Albers Supermarkets Inc. have announced plans to merge the firms.

Colonial supermarkets are principally in Georgia, Virginia and the Carolinas, while Albers stores are in Ohio and Kentucky. Total sales of both chains were $333 million in 1954.

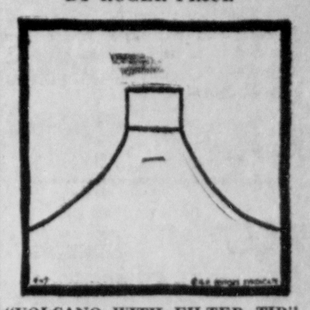

Cops Making Notes On All Bellyaches

CADIZ (AP) — Cadiz police are viewing bellyache sufferers with suspicion these days.

Someone broke into a dairy bar and stole a case of soft drinks, a box of chewing gum, a jar of syrup, three jars of fruit topping, a box of candy bars, two candy squirrels and two candy rabbits.

DROODLES

BY ROGER PRICE

"VOLCANO WITH FILTER TIP" Certain countries used to punish malcontents by throwing them into a Volcano which no doubt inspired the victim to sing the popular song hit, "Let Me Go, Lava." However, this jumbo hot foot has been discontinued and today Volcanoes are mainly Tourist Attractions or locations for Piper Laurie Movies. Last year Dr. Schwine figured that if he had a Volcano in New York he could rent it out as an Incinerator and he contacted a South American Country and made arrangements to buy their Volcano lock, stock and steam. He planned to have it cut into small pieces and mailed up here (2nd class) but due to some Post Office law about hot real estate the deal fell through. Seems a shame.

perspective of the worthwhile things of life, think of those things that have lasting value and the quiet of meditation and prayer brings inner calm.

"It is a way of rededication to a life of service to home, family, community and the Lord to follow his way a little better.

"I like the story about the pastor who went to visit one of his parishioners who very seldom came to worship but declared he could find God in his garden. Or anywhere in nature as well as attending services in the church.

"The pastor sat with him for some time without mentioning church attendance but then he rose and went to the fire place. Taking the tongs he lifted a single coal from the fire and placed it on the hearth. He waited in silence as it quickly cooled into a black cinder while the fire in the fireplace continued to burn brightly.

"Then he quietly went back to his chair. "You needn't say anything," said the man of the house, "I understand what you mean. I cannot live alone. Next Sunday you'll see me in Church."

Humane Society Tells Position On Dog Law

The Pickaway County Humane Society, in a statement issued today, emphasized that the organization is not concerned in any way with Circleville's strict Summertime ban on stray dogs.

The society's statement, said:

"The board of directors of the Humane Society of Pickaway county wishes to notify the citizens of Circleville and Pickaway County that the recently enacted ordinance of the City of Circleville pertaining to dogs, and the enforcement thereof by the dog warden, came not as a result of any action of the Humane Society.

"The society is organized and operated under the laws of Ohio and is concerned solely with the humane treatment of children and animals.

* * *

"THE HUMANE Officer happens also to be the city and county dog warden because the society does not have the necessary funds to employ a full time employe.

"We believe the purpose of the society in protecting your children and their pets to be a worthy one and that the society should not become involved in controversies over other matters."

Confab Opens On Guaranteed Wage Proposal

General Motors Chiefs Join Auto Union Aides In Vital Conferences

DETROIT (AP)—No matter what may be happening elsewhere in the world, the average American was keeping one eye on Detroit today. A conference in the Motor City may well chart the economic path he will follow in the future.

Participants in the conference are the giants of industry and labor. The topic for discussion—and solving: a guaranteed annual wage for the working man.

The principals are the billion-dollar General Motors Corp., the nation's biggest industrial firm, and Walter Reuther's 1½ million-member CIO United Auto Workers, the nation's biggest union.

The arena is a small room in the massive General Motors Building in midtown Detroit, scene of the start of formal bargaining on a new contract.

Immediately at stake are the fortunes of some 350,000 General Motors employes across the country. But the significance of the negotiations goes far beyond this.

* * *

A GUARANTEED wage plan at General Motors might set a pattern for the entire auto industry as well as for much of other industry. That could have a tremendous impact on the nation's economy.

The UAW guaranteed wage plan calls for 40 hours' pay if an employe works any part of a week. The employe would be guaranteed enough to "maintain his living standards" any week he is laid off completely.

The guarantee would cover 52 weeks for workers with seniority and would be dovetailed with state unemployment compensation.

Other union demands include a wage boost of some 5 cents an hour, an increase in the present 5-cent hourly "productivity" factor, improvements in health and pension plans and other benefits. The current average wage in the auto industry is about $2.10 an hour.

The current five-year cost-of-living contract between GM and the UAW expires May 29. Three days later a similar pact covering 140,000 Ford Motor Co. employes runs out.

The UAW plans to concentrate its guaranteed wage fire on these two biggest producers in the industry. Ford negotiations start Tuesday.

If it comes to a strike, the feeling in Detroit labor circles is that Ford would be chosen. The reasoning is that the union couldn't afford a long strike at GM which would cut off roughly one third of its dues besides costing countless millions in strike benefits.

If this course were followed, the UAW could delay a showdown at GM simply by agreeing to a contract extension for a few days.

Neither GM nor Ford has commented directly on the guaranteed wage demand. GM officials have hinted at their stand by emphasizing the regularity of employment in their plants for years.

Here Is Sad News On Sewer Rates!

Proposed Higher Scale Detailed; Ordinance Now Before Council

While city council holds under study an ordinance that would double the sewer rates, users of Circleville's sanitary sewer system had an opportunity today to glance over the unhappy details—the proposed higher costs.

The measure calling for the 100 percent hike in sewer rates was held to first reading in council Tuesday night. In proposing the increase, the board of public utilities pointed out that the annual revenue from sewer rentals is inadequate to meet operation and maintenance costs. And that relief is needed for the overloaded facilities now in use.

The ordinance also emphasized that the state's water pollution control board has issued requirements for additional treatment facilities.

* * *

THE ORDINANCE provides that the following schedule of rates shall be established for sewer rental service for all domestic and commercial users of the sanitary sewer system of the city as well as users connected to sanitary sewers extended beyond the corporate limits of the city:

RESIDENCES: Single or one-family dwellings, apartments, trailers, each unit of a multiple housing unit, or units, or any other place of habitation, $12 per annum.

HOTELS AND MOTELS: For each room with bath, $3.50 per annum; for each room without bath, $2. per annum; Public toilets, each, $16.00 per annum.

ROOMING HOUSES: Each rooming house, $12. per annum, plus $2. per annum for each rentable room.

REST HOMES: Each rest home, $25 per annum.

STORES, RESTAURANTS AND MERCANTILE ESTABLISHMENTS: Private toilets, each, $12. per annum; Public toilets, each $16 . per annum; Kitchen sinks, each $12. per annum; Slop Wash racks, $24. per annum.

FILLING STATIONS, GARAGES: Toilets, each, $12. per annum; Wash racks, $24. per annum

OFFICES, BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOPS: Toilets, each $12. per annum; Barber chair, each, 4 per annum; Beauticians, chair, $4. per annum.

FACTORIES AND SHOPS: For each and every person employed on the premises in accordance with the following schedules: Each factory or shop, minimum, $12. per annum; Each employee $1.40 per annum.

CLUBS AND LODGES: Toilets, each, $6. per annum; Kitchen sink, each, $6. per annum; Slop sink, each, $4. per annum.

TRAILER COURTS:

(a) Trailer court, with central or common shower-toilet-laundry building, $12. per annum; Trailer, each, $1. per annum.

(b) Trailer court with central or common laundry building only, $8 per annum; Trailer, connected to sewer, each $9. per annum.

* * *

For special cases, which are not clearly defined in the above schedule, rates shall be established by Council.

Rates for canning factories, dairies, The Container Corporation of America, and any other industry not specifically covered by the schedule of rates as set forth above will be determined by the board of public utilities and approved by Council as separate contracts with the individual industry concerned.

The rates for sewer rental for properties beyond the corporate limits connected to the sanitary sewer system of the City of Circleville shall be the same as in the above scale, plus fifty percent additional charge.

Schools Closing For Holidays

FRIDAY — all Circleville schools will close all day; Saltcreek, Scioto, New Holland, Jackson and Muhlenburg schools will close only in the afternoon with all other county schools closing Thursday afternoon.

MONDAY — all Circleville schools will close all day; Ashville, S. Boomfield, Duvall, Washington and Wayne schools will close all day with all other county schools being open.

'Gypsies' Blamed For Stolen Wallet

"Gypsies" were again blamed for a reported missing wallet.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff reported that a wallet containing $30 was taken Wednesday afternoon from Coston Adkins at his farm, on Route 104 a mile south of Route 22.

Adkins said an old model car, bearing three "Gypsy-like" persons, drove up. Two women got out and inquired about a man named O'Brien.

When Adkins refused to let them in, he tried to "shoo" them away. After a brief tussle, they left—and so did Adkins' wallet, he reported.

Approximately one-fifth of all men over 75 years old in the United States are employed.

Long Term Bean Storage Decried

COLUMBUS (AP)—Lowell Folsom, grain marketing specialist at Ohio State University, says futures quotations do not favor long term storage of soybeans.

He said futures prices are progressively lower for summer and fall contracts, and reflect a relatively calm international situation, lower price support and increased soybean acreage this year. He explained that futures prices are what present conditions indicate the cash price for a crop probably will be in coming months.

perspective of the worthwhile things of life, think of those things that have lasting value and the quiet of meditation and prayer brings inner calm.

"It is a way of rededication to a life of service to home, family, community and the Lord to follow his way a little better.

"I like the story about the pastor who went to visit one of his parishioners who very seldom came to worship but declared he could find God in his garden. Or anywhere in nature as well as attending services in the church.

"The pastor sat with him for some time without mentioning church attendance but then he rose and went to the fire place. Taking the tongs he lifted a single coal from the fire and placed it on the hearth. He waited in silence as it quickly cooled into a black cinder while the fire in the fireplace continued to burn brightly.

"Then he quietly went back to his chair. "You needn't say anything," said the man of the house, "I understand what you mean. I cannot live alone. Next Sunday you'll see me in Church."

Humane Society Tells Position On Dog Law

The Pickaway County Humane Society, in a statement issued today, emphasized that the organization is not concerned in any way with Circleville's strict Summertime ban on stray dogs.

The society's statement, said:

"The board of directors of the Humane Society of Pickaway county wishes to notify the citizens of Circleville and Pickaway County that the recently enacted ordinance of the City of Circleville pertaining to dogs, and the enforcement thereof by the dog warden, came not as a result of any action of the Humane Society.

"The society is organized and operated under the laws of Ohio and is concerned solely with the humane treatment of children and animals.

* * *

"THE HUMANE Officer happens also to be the city and county dog warden because the society does not have the necessary funds to employ a full time employe.

"We believe the purpose of the society in protecting your children and their pets to be a worthy one and that the society should not become involved in controversies over other matters."

Confab Opens On Guaranteed Wage Proposal

General Motors Chiefs Join Auto Union Aides In Vital Conferences

DETROIT (AP)—No matter what may be happening elsewhere in the world, the average American was keeping one eye on Detroit today. A conference in the Motor City may well chart the economic path he will follow in the future.

Participants in the conference are the giants of industry and labor. The topic for discussion—and solving: a guaranteed annual wage for the working man.

The principals are the billion-dollar General Motors Corp., the nation's biggest industrial firm, and Walter Reuther's 1½ million-member CIO United Auto Workers, the nation's biggest union.

The arena is a small room in the massive General Motors Building in midtown Detroit, scene of the start of formal bargaining on a new contract.

Immediately at stake are the fortunes of some 350,000 General Motors employes across the country. But the significance of the negotiations goes far beyond this.

* * *

A GUARANTEED wage plan at General Motors might set a pattern for the entire auto industry as well as for much of other industry. That could have a tremendous impact on the nation's economy.

The UAW guaranteed wage plan calls for 40 hours' pay if an employe works any part of a week. The employe would be guaranteed enough to "maintain his living standards" any week he is laid off completely.

The guarantee would cover 52 weeks for workers with seniority and would be dovetailed with state unemployment compensation.

Other union demands include a wage boost of some 5 cents an hour, an increase in the present 5-cent hourly "productivity" factor, improvements in health and pension plans and other benefits. The current average wage in the auto industry is about $2.10 an hour.

The current five-year cost-of-living contract between GM and the UAW expires May 29. Three days later a similar pact covering 140,000 Ford Motor Co. employes runs out.

The UAW plans to concentrate its guaranteed wage fire on these two biggest producers in the industry. Ford negotiations start Tuesday.

If it comes to a strike, the feeling in Detroit labor circles is that Ford would be chosen. The reasoning is that the union couldn't afford a long strike at GM which would cut off roughly one third of its dues besides costing countless millions in strike benefits.

If this course were followed, the UAW could delay a showdown at GM simply by agreeing to a contract extension for a few days.

Neither GM nor Ford has commented directly on the guaranteed wage demand. GM officials have hinted at their stand by emphasizing the regularity of employment in their plants for years.

Here Is Sad News On Sewer Rates!

Proposed Higher Scale Detailed; Ordinance Now Before Counciil

While city council holds under study an ordinance that would double the sewer rates, users of Circleville's sanitary sewer system had an opportunity today to glance over the unhappy details—the proposed higher costs.

The measure calling for the 100 percent hike in sewer rates was held to first reading in council Tuesday night. In proposing the increase, the board of public utilities pointed out that the annual revenue from sewer rentals is inadequate to meet operation and maintenance costs. And that relief is needed for the overloaded facilities now in use.

The ordinance also emphasized that the state's water pollution control board has issued requirements for additional treatment facilities.

* * *

THE ORDINANCE provides that the following schedule of rates shall be established for sewer rental service for all domestic and commercial users of the sanitary sewer system of the city as well as users connected to sanitary sewers extended beyond the corporate limits of the city:

RESIDENCES: Single or one-family dwellings, apartments, trailers, each unit of a multiple housing unit, or units, or any other place of habitation, $12 per annum.

FACTORIES AND SHOPS: For each and every person employed on the premises in accordance with the following schedules: Each factory or shop, minimum, $12. per annum; Each employee $1.40 per annum.

(b) Trailer court with central or common laundry building only, $8 per annum; Trailer, connected to sewer, each $9. per annum.

* * *

Rates for canning factories, dairies, The Container Corporation of America, and any other industry not specifically covered by the schedule of rates as set forth above will be determined by the board of public utilities and approved by Council as separate contracts with the individual industry concerned.

The rates for sewer rental for properties beyond the corporate limits connected to the sanitary sewer system of the City of Circleville shall be the same as in the above scale, plus fifty percent additional charge.

Schools Closing For Holidays

FRIDAY — all Circleville schools will close all day; Saltcreek, Scioto, New Holland, Jackson and Muhlenburg schools will close only in the afternoon with all other county schools closing Thursday afternoon.

MONDAY — all Circleville schools will close all day; Ashville, S. Boomfield, Duvall, Washington and Wayne schools will close all day with all other county schools being open.

'Gypsies' Blamed For Stolen Wallet

"Gypsies" were again blamed for a reported missing wallet.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff reported that a wallet containing $30 was taken Wednesday afternoon from Coston Adkins at his farm, on Route 104 a mile south of Route 22.

Adkins said an old model car, bearing three "Gypsy-like" persons, drove up. Two women got out and inquired about a man named O'Brien.

When Adkins refused to let them in, he tried to "shoo" them away. After a brief tussle, they left—and so did Adkins' wallet, he reported.

Approximately one-fifth of all men over 75 years old in the United States are employed.

Long Term Bean Storage Decried

COLUMBUS (AP)—Lowell Folsom, grain marketing specialist at Ohio State University, says futures quotations do not favor long term storage of soybeans.

He said futures prices are progressively lower for summer and fall contracts, and reflect a relatively calm international situation, lower price support and increased soybean acreage this year. He explained that futures prices are what present conditions indicate the cash price for a crop probably will be in coming months.

63 Grapes Equal 1 Bottle

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you wasted some of the best years of your life brooding over how many grapes it takes to make a fifth of champagne?

So many vineyard visitors asked this question the Taylor Wine Co. finally assigned a vintner to find the answer. He discovered there are 63 grapes on a cluster of Catawbas, the variety used. A ton of fruit contained 6,500 clusters or 539,500 individual grapes and produced 850 fifths of champagne. Thus the number of grapes in a single bottle is 63.

But it takes 870 grapes to make a fifth of sauterne or clared. There are only 60 grapes to a cluster in the variety used in these wines.

Remember way back when a college boy's biggest worry was where he could find a job? That is no problem with student engineers today. They are now aristocrats of the campus. Example: The Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N. J., expects to turn out 128 graduates this June, and already more than 170 industrial firms are sending talent scouts to bid for their services. Tip to parents: Why not give your little boy a slide rule instead of a sled next Christmas?

Success comes in strange ways. Denise Lor, vocalist on TV, got into the big money by disregarding the advice of both her mother and her doctor. Against the wishes of her mother, a film costume designer, she went into show business. While singing semiclassical numbers in an ice show she caught a heavy cold and developed nodules on her vocal chords. A doctor advised her to take a vacation, rest her throat. Instead she kept singing, but in a lower register. Her new voice turned out to be just right for the new deep-throated "pop" tunes. Now, nodules notwithstanding, she earns about $125,000 a year.

Male ego dept: At least we have found something men do better than women: They eat a better breakfast. Only 23 per cent of white collar working girls under 25, and only 29 per cent over 25, regularly eat a well-balanced breakfast, according to a life insurance company survey. Is this why business women often seem short tempered? The same survey found that 44 per cent of the men started the day right with a good meal.

Feminine ego dept: Women long have held they are safer drivers than men, and highway statistics often bear them out. One reason may be that they obey traffic lights better because they can distinguish the lights better. Optometrists report that eight per cent of all men suffer from red-green color blindness, but only one per cent of women have this vision defect.

Ever dream of finding a valuable pearl in a restaurant oyster? Well, keep right on dreaming. You have one chance in 5,000 of picking up a pearl that way, but even if you did the chance are it wouldn't have any real value except as a souvenir.

Most gem pearls come from tropic oysters, but snails, clams and mussels also create pearls. The famous queen pearl of New Jersey, sold in the last century to Empress Eugenie of France for $25,000 came from a common river mussel.

A giant Philippine claim that shut on the hand of a native diver and drowned him yielded the "Pearl of Allah," the largest ever found. It weighed 14 pounds. Why not surprise your wife by presenting it to her on your next wedding anniversary? If she found it a bit heavy as a throat pendant, it could be turned into a beautiful bowling ball.

ON HER 96th birthday, Mrs. Lydia Ann Gauss of Perrysville, Pa., celebrates by touching her toes. She still takes cooking, washing, ironing and cleaning in stride, and has been ill only once in 50 years. A widow, Mrs. Gauss has two daughters and four sons. (International)

Japan Scientists Find 'Hot Rain'

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese scientists last night reported finding "hot rain" isotopes indicating that the United States and Russia both exploded thermonuclear bombs coated with uranium jackets in 1954.

Scientists say a uranium jacket around a hydrogen bomb would boost its killing power many times.

Two scientists said they had discovered isotopes of uranium 237 and plutonium 239 in dust and rainfall collected last May and September in Japan.

They said the isotopes in May probably came from U. S. tests at Bikini; those in September from Soviet tests in Siberia.

Truman Labels Churchill 'Great'

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Former President Truman, commenting on the retirement of British Prime Minister Churchill, said "We are all sorry to see him retire."

He plans to write Churchill a letter in the next few days.

"Mr. Churchill is a great man of our age," Truman said.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Smoked hams and turkeys for sumptuous Easter dinners will be the overwhelming favorites on the feature lists of the nation's food stores this weekend.

And you'll find good value for your money. Smoked ham prices will be down as much as 20 cents a pound from a year ago, reflecting the drop in pork prices since that time. A spokesman for a major chain says prices haven't been as low in eight years.

Stores also will be featuring canned hams at what they say are very reasonable prices.

Turkeys also will be down sharply from a year ago. One meat specialist says prices will about match those that prevailed at Thanksgiving and will be a trifle lower than at Christmas.

Incidentally, Easter eggs should not cost you too much this year. Egg prices are down again in most sections of the country, with one large group of markets trimming two to six cents a dozen off week-ago prices.

If you're not in the mood for ham or turkey, you will find prime ribs of beef on sale in numerous markets. Legs of lamb also will be featured at prices a bit lower than last week.

Pork chop prices generally will be higher than a week ago. One chain plans boosts of two to six cents a pound for center cut chops. Butter will be cheaper in some sections of the country, with reductions ranging from one to six cents a pound.

The U.S Department of Agriculture notes that food shoppers will find an abundance of seafood—haddock fillets, halibut, ocean perch, and shrimp "at very attractive prices", in either fresh or frozen form.

Onions and potatoes went up in price this week, as did many vegetables, but produce specialists at these two still rate as good buys. Also in this category are cesarole, nearby greens, new crop cabbage, celery, bunched and topped carrots, broccoli, eggplant, small and medium size peppers, rhubarb, artichokes and beans. Once again, the beans are only of ordinary to fair quality.

Cucumbers took a big jump in price during the week. Iceberg lettuce and asparagus are rated as moderately priced. Asparagus is in big demand right now.

The list of good buys in fruits isn't very long. Oranges and grapefruit are your best bets. Strawberries and good quality apples went up in price.

Kansas Woman Feeling Fine After Her 38th Operation

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Mrs. Blondella Wert is recuperating nicely from her 38th operation and says she is going to live another 50 years.

"I believe this is my last operation," says the cheerful 55-year-old patient in St. Francis hospital. "I don't know what else they could take out."

In the last 22 years, she says, she has gone to surgery in 14 hospitals in half a dozen cities for an assortment of ailments. They include hernia, removal of a kidney, gall bladder, appendix, numerous tumors, a cancer, some of her intestines, both breasts and various other items.

Don't feel sorry, though.

"I've lived an active, useful, happy life so far and I expect to go on living that way," is how she explains the time she spends between operations.

And her doctor says she just might live the next 50 years as she says she will.

"She is doing very well," he said. "She had an ulcer this time and it was necessary to remove a part of her stomach. But she is about ready to go home."

When she is a little stronger, Mrs. Wert expects to go back to work, perhaps as a saleswoman at a department store.

That and taking care of a home for her husband, P. A. Wert, a telegrapher for the Santa Fe Railroad. He's only a two-operation man.

Wert says his wife is a busy woman who takes part in club work and other activities. Their two sons died in accidents, one drowning when he was 12 and the other in a railroad accident when he was 20.

"She works just as hard as I do," said Wert. "And I might add I have to work pretty hard. Operations come pretty high, even by the dozen."

'Modern' Flavor

DENVER (AP)—An ice cream firm in Colorado—where snow and dust have been in the news along with increased atomic fallout from recent Nevada tests—came up with a new flavor of the month today. The name? Chocolate fallout.

The blood of lobsters, crayfish and crabs is blue because it is based on a copper pigment.

Bread Cast Upon Waters Returns

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — It was a good deal, said Mrs. Roy Good, when she gave her husband's old clothes to a charity organization here. The Goods' home was destroyed here in a windstorm yesterday morning. One of those given clothing by the organization which Mrs. Good favored was storm victime Roy Good.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Smoked hams and turkeys for sumptuous Easter dinners will be the overwhelming favorites on the feature lists of the nation's food stores this weekend.

And you'll find good value for your money. Smoked ham prices will be down as much as 20 cents a pound from a year ago, reflecting the drop in pork prices since that time. A spokesman for a major chain says prices haven't been as low in eight years.

Stores also will be featuring canned hams at what they say are very reasonable prices.

Turkeys also will be down sharply from a year ago. One meat specialist says prices will about match those that prevailed at Thanksgiving and will be a trifle lower than at Christmas.

Incidentally, Easter eggs should not cost you too much this year. Egg prices are down again in most sections of the country, with one large group of markets trimming two to six cents a dozen off week-ago prices.

If you're not in the mood for ham or turkey, you will find prime ribs of beef on sale in numerous markets. Legs of lamb also will be featured at prices a bit lower than last week.

Pork chop prices generally will be higher than a week ago. One chain plans boosts of two to six cents a pound for center cut chops. Butter will be cheaper in some sections of the country, with reductions ranging from one to six cents a pound.

The U.S Department of Agriculture notes that food shoppers will find an abundance of seafood—haddock fillets, halibut, ocean perch, and shrimp "at very attractive prices", in either fresh or frozen form.

Onions and potatoes went up in price this week, as did many vegetables, but produce specialists at these two still rate as good buys. Also in this category are cesarole, nearby greens, new crop cabbage, celery, bunched and topped carrots, broccoli, eggplant, small and medium size peppers, rhubarb, artichokes and beans. Once again, the beans are only of ordinary to fair quality.

Cucumbers took a big jump in price during the week. Iceberg lettuce and asparagus are rated as moderately priced. Asparagus is in big demand right now.

The list of good buys in fruits isn't very long. Oranges and grapefruit are your best bets. Strawberries and good quality apples went up in price.

Kansas Woman Feeling Fine After Her 38th Operation

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Mrs. Blondella Wert is recuperating nicely from her 38th operation and says she is going to live another 50 years.

"I believe this is my last operation," says the cheerful 55-year-old patient in St. Francis hospital. "I don't know what else they could take out."

In the last 22 years, she says, she has gone to surgery in 14 hospitals in half a dozen cities for an assortment of ailments. They include hernia, removal of a kidney, gall bladder, appendix, numerous tumors, a cancer, some of her intestines, both breasts and various other items.

Don't feel sorry, though.

"I've lived an active, useful, happy life so far and I expect to go on living that way," is how she explains the time she spends between operations.

And her doctor says she just might live the next 50 years as she says she will.

"She is doing very well," he said. "She had an ulcer this time and it was necessary to remove a part of her stomach. But she is about ready to go home."

When she is a little stronger, Mrs. Wert expects to go back to work, perhaps as a saleswoman at a department store.

That and taking care of a home for her husband, P. A. Wert, a telegrapher for the Santa Fe Railroad. He's only a two-operation man.

Wert says his wife is a busy woman who takes part in club work and other activities. Their two sons died in accidents, one drowning when he was 12 and the other in a railroad accident when he was 20.

"She works just as hard as I do," said Wert. "And I might add I have to work pretty hard. Operations come pretty high, even by the dozen."

'Modern' Flavor

DENVER (AP)—An ice cream firm in Colorado—where snow and dust have been in the news along with increased atomic fallout from recent Nevada tests—came up with a new flavor of the month today. The name? Chocolate fallout.

The blood of lobsters, crayfish and crabs is blue because it is based on a copper pigment.

Many years ago there was a Greek Goddess named Ceres who was responsible for all growing vegetation. It was from her name that we get our word cereal. Cereal is defined as "any grass yielding grain for food".

Since earliest history, almost every nation has had its characteristic grain. We inherited corn from the Indians. The origin of wheat is lost in antiquity. Rice seems to have its origin in India approximately 3,000 B.C.

The bountiful supply of high nutritive value cereal grains have made them the major food of the world throughout history.

With the wide variety of cereals from which to choose there is no longer any reason for sameness in a breakfast food. Nor should the service of these useful grains be confined to the first meal of the day.

* * *

CEREALS now enter into miscellaneous breads, muffins, griddle cakes, and cookies; they may also be used in croquettes and meat loaves; they may be used as a topping for casserole dishes; they may be added to scrambled and creamed foods; they may appear on the appetizer tray; and you can even meet them in the candy box.

If people give up bread, or cereals, when on a reducing diet, they deny themselves an inexpensive source of a number of things the body needs. So when we go shopping, let's look for the cereal products that are vitamin enriched or restored.

Bread, the staff of man's existence, has become an even more essential part of our nutritional need since the manufacturers of commercial white breads began to enrich their product through restoring and supplementing nutritive constiuents discarded in the milling and refining process.

Bread, in one form or another, is America's best and most economical energy-yielding food. All breads contain body building proteins and energy-yielding carbohydrates. However, we can not "live by bread alone". The real food value of bread depends on what goes with it — fruits, vegetables, milk, eggs, meat.

Nutritionally superior enriched white bread represents about 85 per cent or more of the white bread produced commercially today. More than half of the states have legislation requiring the enrichment of white flour and white bread.

* * *

IN OHIO certificates stating use must be issued for the sale of white flour that has not been enriched. Thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, and iron are added so that white flour will approach what the nutritive value of the product would have been if made from whole wheat.

Twenty cents spent for enriched white bread will usually buy more calories, protein and thiamine than twenty cents spent for any other ordinary food. And, because four pounds of nonfat milk solids per 100 pounds of flour are used in average present day commercial white bread formulas, enriched flour provides good quality protein.

White bread is eaten more often than any other food and it is also wasted more often. It is estimated that at least one slice out of every loaf of bread baked each day goes to waste.

* * *

AMERICANS are said to eat approximately 40 million loaves daily —the per capita daily consumption being six slices. When we shop for bread we should plan to use all the crusts. Recipe books and pamphlets give many ways and means!

Marketing and processing charges account for about 81 per cent of the price paid for a loaf of bread. Wheat farmers get 15 per cent and the producers of other agricultural products used in making bread get 4 per cent. The marketing and processing costs include many services—some that formerly were done by the housewife in the days of home-made bread.

The thickness of slices and the number of slices in a loaf may vary in different localities. Not counting the end crust, a 1 lb. loaf usually has 16 slices; a 1¼ lb. loaf, 19 slices; and the 2 lb. sandwich loaf usually 24 slices.

For high protein bread, soy flour can be used—½ cupful soy flour to about 4½ cups of enriched flour. Soy flour or meal is exceptionally rich in minerals, vitamins and protein. Compared with white flour, it is 15 times as rich in calcium, seven times as rich in phosphorus, 10 times as rich in iron, 10 times as rich in thiamine, nine times as rich in riboflavin, five times as rich in niacin, and four to five times as rich in protein. It compares well with the quality of protein in meat, milk and eggs.

To determine which is the best buy in bread or cereals, it is important to know what nutrients the product contains. This information is on the package or wrapper. Homemakers should read the label to find out which gives the most food value for the money.

* * *

FOR HEALTH'S sake, and for a low cost food budget, serve enriched cereals everyday. Bread helps greatly toward "bringing home the bacon". And, speaking of bacon, there is more pork than last year. Bacon is a good buy and Easter hams will be in good supply and reasonably priced.

Freezing temperatures in the southeastern part of the country have caused severe damage to fruits and vegetable crops which will mean smaller supplies coming to market in the next few months. Peaches, strawberries, new potatoes and watermelons suffered the greatest damage.

SEASON RUSHES ON

AFTER SEVERAL periods of backing and filling, as if unable to determine whether to run its traditional course, spring is settling down to serious business. It is a pattern that is repeated annually. Because of the divergent climatic picture of the country, spring arrives much earlier in the southern half than farther north. But everywhere it engages in a contraditionary performance in its earlier stages.

But time moves onward inexorably, and spring finally plays its traditional role in a manner to suggest it is trying to make up for lost time. When the first days of April have passed and people begin looking toward the arrival of May, winter has been definitely left behind.

A news item which says the number of those receiving unemployment compensation is dropping at the rate of more than 50,000 weekly, as a result of "increased outdoor employment," that is additional proof that spring is here to stay until it is succeeded by summer. With the beginning of baseball season only days off, all doubt vanishes.

Spring is a delightful period when it finally and definitely becomes spring, with no wintry overtones. Days are becoming longer, the sun is hotter, and plans for summer vacations are being formulated. Spring is a period of anticipation as well as of current enjoyment. Summer, to most persons, is the best time of the year, and spring enjoys great popularity because it is the prelude to summer.

GOOD OLD DAYS

A KANSAS newspaper comes up with an interesting dissertation on prices, then and now. In 1897 a Topeka grocery store, according to the Capital, advertised 22 pounds of the best granulated sugar for a dollar, as a special attraction for thrifty shoppers. Other items included the best grade of coffee at 25 cents a pound and 12 pounds of navy beans for 25 cents. Ham was nine cents a pound, and four pounds of steak could be had for two bits.

Modern housewives, concerned over the high cost of living, may view that period as ideal. To obtain 12 pounds of beans, four pounds of steak and three pounds of ham for the present cost of one pound of coffee has all the earmarks of a big bargain. But it is necessary to see the other side of the picture to understand why prices were so low.

Heads of families worked for $10, $12 or $15 a week, and there were no 40-hour weeks in those days. The farmer realized 10 cents or less from a dozen eggs, was happy to get 25 cents a bushel for No. 1 corn and 10 cents for a pound of butter. Feeding a family in the good old days was more of a problem than it is today.

While prices have skyrocketed over the years, with each reduction invariably followed by a rise to new high levels, incomes have more than matched the increases. In fact, statistics reveal that the standard of living has risen 50 per cent in the last 15 years.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

I picked out of the 'Syracuse Daily Orange" an item concerning a lecturer, Paul Harris, who is reported to have said:

"The Alger Hiss case is not closed. I am 90 per cent certain. Now not 100 per cent, but 90 per cent certain that the Hiss case is not closed. I have talked to people close to this and I'm pretty sure that in later years it will come to light that Alger Hiss did what he did. . .to cover up for someone who was mentally incapable of making decisions."

This curious comment leads nowhere in particular because it does not indicate who was "mentally incapable of making decisions." It might have been a male or a female; a public official or a relative; or it could be no one at all—just a guess. Nor is the comment of the slighest importance because whatever Alger Hiss did, he did by choice, as all humans, not captive, do. And he has been to prison for it and is now free.

What would be of real value would be a complete and truthful memoire by Hiss on his relations to our failure at Yalta and to the direction of our China policy which have brought on such disastrous consequences. Hiss can well afford to be truthful now. He has served such a sentence as a court determined upon and that, under our system, frees him from his past. There can be no double jeopardy.

But what Hiss knows is of historic significance. Too many people want history suppressed because they look so stupid in its pages. Yet the fill-in on Yalta and the China policy is necessary if the history of these events is ever to be written accurately. The prospects for such accuracy are today not too good.

An example of controversy which will puzzle the future historian is the role of General Douglas MacArthur. Since his return to this country after his dismissal by President Truman, General MacArthur in public statement and private conversation has stated that he had favored efforts to bring Russia into the Far Eastern War immediately after Pearl Harbor but had opposed Russia's joining as unnecessary after October, 1944.

Efforts have been made to deny that this had been MacArthur's position. As all the papers in this case are in the possession of both General MacArthur and the Pentagon, surely the difference of opinion can be dissolved by the publication of the documents.

General Charles A. Willoughby says in his book, "MacArthur: 1941-1951":

". . .As early as December 13 MacArthur wired Secretary of War Henry Stimson to force the Soviet hand. As MacArthur puts it: '. . .the Russians had turned back the Germans before Moscow. Stalin had his great victories, the Germans had been rolled back 200 to 600 miles. That was the time for the Russians to put pressure on the North and so save the Pacific. But Churchill and the American government were against it. I was as insistent on the Russians' entrance into the war at that time as I was against it later when we had the victory in our grasp.' "

General Willoughby was MacArthur's intelligence officer and because of their present personal relations, his book must be regarded as authorized. So we turn to page 285 of the same book and find:

SYNOPSIS

Jim Andrus had blacked-out the night before he was to have wed lovely Regina Pelham in her suburban New York home. He had awakened to find himself accused of the vehicular slaying of Regina's small son, Roger. And though he knew he'd been framed, evidence pointed to his guilt, so he'd been convicted of homicide, and had served a brief prison term. But free now in New York, and aided by Police Inspector McKee, Andrus is bent upon clearing his name. A clue as to his actual whereabouts on that tragic night, leads Andrus to the suburban shack of one "Midnight Mike." Here he is injured and, dazed, he stumbles upon the corpse of "Midnight Mike," himself. Jim hides out in a cheap local hotel that night and when next morning his silver flask is found by the body of the murdered man, Andrus is again wanted by the police. But Jim's loyal friend, Susan Dwight, helps him evade the law. Susan never had believed Andrus guilty of killing little Roger and she is sure that her grieving half-sister, Regina Pelham, still loves this man! Now, dimly, Jim recalls having been somewhere with "Midnight Mike" and a woman the night the lad had died beneath the wheels of his car.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

BEFORE 9 o'clock Andrus was safe in the loft of the Pelham barn. He hadn't been challenged on the way, nor had it been difficult to get in. Susan Dwight had explained the layout to him. The big square barn below, with the former stable opening out of it; the loft above was never used. The door at the foot of the ladder-like stairs was rusted shut on its wheel. But a window on a landing inside the stairwell could easily be opened. Andrus had climbed through the window. The huge loft was ell shaped. At the oack of the shorter leg there was a toilet, a rusty sink an army cot with a pile of faded blankets and quilts on it and two old chairs. The place had last been used by a gardener when Mrs. Pelham was alive, and not since. After that it had been left to rats and mice and spiders.

The place was bitterly cold. Andrus kept his coat on. Dragging a backless chair to the front windows, he sat down facing them. He had an excellent view of the back of the house and part of the side. After a few minutes headlights came up the steep winding drive.

It was Susan Dwight and Lofting in Regina's old Chevy. Lofting drove the car into the barn and they got out. Their voices floated up and clearly through the floor boards. Susan said, "That steak was good, wasn't it. Brr, it's cold," and Lofting said, "It certainly is. I think there's a storm coming. I ought to have gone back to New York tonight. If it snows and the snow piles up—"

"Don't be silly, Barry. You can just as easily go down in the morning."

They left the barn, their arms linked, mounted the back steps and went inside. Lights flashed on. Susan and Lofting were in the pantry, Susan getting ice out of the refrigerator. They vanished. Edith and Frederick Pelham suddenly appeared before Andrus. The moon was bright and he could see them clearly. They had evidently come round the barn; their own house was only a stone's throw away on the hill above. They were talking. Andrus couldn't hear what they said. They turned under the walls, crossed the lawn and went in through a side door. Presently the nurse, Mrs. Casserly, came down the back stairs into the kitchen, put a kettle on the stove and began arranging a tray.

Andrus wanted a cigaret, but Susan had warned him about showing a light and he was still sitting there, too listless to move, when a curious little scene took place. Lights sprang up in a room on the second floor. Double exposure—it was a replica of one of those trick stagesets where you see into two rooms at once. Mrs. Casserly bustling about in the kitchen, tall and angular and busy; it was Edith Pelham who had entered the room on the floor above.

The room was a bedroom. Regina's sister-in-law stood with her back to the closed door looking around. The furniture consisted of a bed, a high-boy, a dressing table and two chairs. Edith Pelham went quickly to the highboy and began opening and closing drawers as though she were searching for something. The dressing table next; she was at the dressing table when she raised her head sharply in a listening gesture, closed the drawer, hurried across the floor and disappeared through a door on the far side, a bathroom door, dousing the lights as she did so.

The room was in darkness for only a moment. The actresses had changed places. Light again; it was switched on by Mrs. Casserly. The bedroom was evidently hers. She entered it smiling. She was in a cheerful mood, seemed to be humming. She started for the dressing table and stood still.

Something about the dressing table, some sign the other woman had left held her rigid, hands on her hips, her head forward, her feet rooted to the floor. She continued to gaze at the dressing table for a long moment, then roused. Crossing to the bathroom door, she looked into the bathroom, now dark, closed the door, and slid a bolt to. She then went to a closet beyond the highboy and dragged a suitcase out. She opened the suitcase, looked into it, secured the case and put it back in the closet. Her manner and bearing now altogether changed, she left the room, locking the door behind her when she went—at least she had the key in her fingers.

A curious little affair . . . Andrus stared into the black and silver night at the big house. A very curious affair . . . Edith Pelham had searched for something in Mrs. Casserly's room. She had something in her possession. Mrs. Casserly had been in the house the night Roger was killed. She had been frightened when she saw him the other day at the Ludwick station, frightened just now when she discovered that someone had been in her room . . . What was Mrs. Casserly afraid of?

He sat on for some time thinking about it. He watched Edith and Frederick Pelham come out of the house and walk up the drive toward the barn. But the show wasn't over. Suddenly Edith Pelham gave a shrill cry and pointed. "Fred—a man over there under the ash . . ." Her nerves were certainly on edge. There was nothing under the spread of the tree by the trunk. Frederick Pelham walked a few yards across grass, peered, returned, took his wife's arm, muttered something that sounded like "nonsense" and they walked off.

It wasn't nonsense. Looking closely where Edith Pelham had pointed, Andrus saw part of the tree trunk detach itself and move. It was a man. He strolled out into the moonlight and on toward the front of the house. His dark figure was clearly outlined. He was tall and wore some sort of light-colored coat. He didn't seem to be in any hurry. Beyond the semi-circular porch at the front and to the right of the house, where the ground rose in a knoll, there was a stone bench. The man seated himself on the bench in a negligent attitude, legs stretched out in front of him, arms folded. The front of the house was still lit up. The man on the bench gazed through the windows of living room and hall, as Andrus himself had gazed into the rooms at the back.

Sweat broke out on Andrus' forehead. Police—the man was a plainclothesman, watching the house. Watching Susan Dwight? The fellow was completely calm, collected, couldn't be anything else but a policeman. Andrus pushed his chair farther back into darkness and stood. As though they were connected by invisible strings the man on the bench got up too and walked away. The lights were going out. Presently the house was black.

DIET AND HEALTH

Causes of Fainting

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

HAVE you ever fainted? Know why you did?

You can probably blame your abdomen or legs, or at least the blood vessels in them. Or again, maybe your collar or tie was too tight.

Let me explain.

Causes of Fainting

Fainting is usually caused by fright, a drug reaction, a temperature change, severe pain or sudden loss of a large amount of blood.

Any of those conditions can dilate or widen the blood vessels in your legs or abdomen. When this happens, large amounts of blood flow into these widened vessels and not enough goes to the brain. Robbed of an adequate supply of blood, your brain can do nothing but permit you to lapse into unconsciousness.

Long Standing

Fainting may also occur if you've been standing for an exceptionally long period of time. Also, a tight collar may cause you to faint, especially if you are one of those who are extremely sensitive to pressure on nerves along the large blood vessels in the neck.

Fortunately, Nature helps you revive, in the event you faint. If you lose consciousness, naturally you will fall. Ordinarily, this will put your head on a level with the rest of your body and make it easier for the blood to flow to the brain once again.

How to Help

The best thing you can do for a person who has fainted is to stretch him out so his head is tilted downward and his feet are raised slightly. This will help him regain consciousness much faster than if he were to sit with his head between his knees. Never force a person who has fainted to sit up until he has recovered completely.

You can loosen his collar, too. This will be especially helpful if the neck nerves have caused the temporary black-out.

Once he has regained consciousness, give him some sweetened fluids. This might bring marked improvement if he is sensitive to hunger fainting.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

C. M.: I have been taking barbiturate drugs for a number of years for my nerves. How can I stop taking them?

Answer: Barbiturate drugs are not habit-forming. You must merely make up your mind that you will not take any more of these preparations.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON — Displacement of fats, oils and sugar in foods and beverages by chemicals, poses such a potential threat to normal agricultural crops that it has aroused the farm bloc on Capitol Hill. Manufactured pills cannot yet supplant a juicy steak, potatoes and biscuits, but the increasing appearance of synthetic substitutes on the dinner table has aroused the American Farm Bureau and the Department of Agriculture.

Principal target is the continued substitution of chemicals for fats and oils in bakery products, and of chemical sweeteners in soft drinks and canned fruits. The displacement threatens to pile up Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's present surpluses of wheat, fats, oils and similar products, which already run into billions of dollars. Eventually, the tendency could upset the country's whole farm structure.

Unfortunately for opponents of this dietitic movement, the appeal of the new ingredients to a weight - conscious public, especially feminine housewives and purchasers, is greater than is generally realized.

* * *

BAN LIMITED — The Farm Bureau demands that the Food and Drug Administration be given greater authority to prohibit the use of synthetic ingredients until their nontoxicity is proved. At present, Food and Drug may ban them only if it can show that such ingredients are harmful for human consumption. And the bureau's inspection and testing personnel and facilities are limited.

Two important members of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee have introduced measures to this effect. They are Rep. J. Percy Priest of Tennessee, committee chairman, and Rep. Joseph P. O'hara of Minnesota, ranking Republican on the committee. Although they hope for action at this session, so many industrial interests would be affected adversely that prolonged and bitter controversy is expected.

It will be another of several rows between urban and rural factions on Capitol Hill. They have already squared off on the Administration's $101 billion highway program, and the farm bloc's effort to restore 90 per cent parity payments on farm products.

* * *

POLITICS — The alliance of Representatives Priest, a key Democrat, and O'Hara, a conservative Republican, reveals that the controversy will ignore party lines. Priest is thinking of displacement of the South's cotton, peanut, soybean and vegetable oils, also sugar, while O'Hara is concerned for his state's wheat markets.

There are high stakes, agricultural, industrial and economic, in this hardly noticed struggle. The chemical industry has expanded tremendously since World War II and seeks new outlets. Potential displacement of fats and oils by this means has been estimated at 500 million pounds annually. There is such a sizable surplus now that the government subsidizes their export, and there is hardly enough storage room for wheat overproduction.

Cane and beet sugar growers in the United States are harassed already by Cuban and Puerto Rican competition. More than a score of Southern and Western senators are behind a bill to increase domestic producers' share of the American market. Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, top Democrat on the Senate Agriculture Committee, heads the movement.

* * *

SUBSTITUTES — Food and drug set up standards for ingredients in bakery goods in 1953. It banned certain chemicals, including those guaranteed to keep bread soft longer than will fats and oils. But there are no such standards for sweets, such as cakes, prepared mixes, cookies, etc. It is unlikely that any will be established in this field for some time, due to many complexities.

As yet, sugar substitutes are relatively small. But their use is growing, in view of housewives, understandable desire for ecoromy in housekeeping and to keep their waistlines to a fashionable minimum.

Nor is the comment of the slighest importance because whatever Alger Hiss did, he did by choice, as all humans, not captive, do. And he has been to prison for it and is now free.

What would be of real value would be a complete and truthful memoire by Hiss on his relations to our failure at Yalta and to the direction of our China policy which have brought on such disastrous consequences. Hiss can well afford to be truthful now. He has served such a sentence as a court determined upon and that, under our system, frees him from his past. There can be no double jeopardy.

But what Hiss knows is of historic significance. Too many people want history suppressed because they look so stupid in its pages. Yet the fill-in on Yalta and the China policy is necessary if the history of these events is ever to be written accurately. The prospects for such accuracy are today not too good.

An example of controversy which will puzzle the future historian is the role of General Douglas MacArthur. Since his return to this country after his dismissal by President Truman, General MacArthur in public statement and private conversation has stated that he had favored efforts to bring Russia into the Far Eastern War immediately after Pearl Harbor but had opposed Russia's joining as unnecessary after October, 1944.

Efforts have been made to deny that this had been MacArthur's position. As all the papers in this case are in the possession of both General MacArthur and the Pentagon, surely the difference of opinion can be dissolved by the publication of the documents.

General Charles A. Willoughby says in his book, "MacArthur: 1941-1951":

". . .As early as December 13 MacArthur wired Secretary of War Henry Stimson to force the Soviet hand. As MacArthur puts it: '. . .the Russians had turned back the Germans before Moscow. Stalin had his great victories, the Germans had been rolled back 200 to 600 miles. That was the time for the Russians to put pressure on the North and so save the Pacific. But Churchill and the American government were against it. I was as insistent on the Russians' entrance into the war at that time as I was against it later when we had the victory in our grasp.' "

General Willoughby was MacArthur's intelligence officer and because of their present personal relations, his book must be regarded as authorized. So we turn to page 285 of the same book and find:

SYNOPSIS

Jim Andrus had blacked-out the night before he was to have wed lovely Regina Pelham in her suburban New York home. He had awakened to find himself accused of the vehicular slaying of Regina's small son, Roger. And though he knew he'd been framed, evidence pointed to his guilt, so he'd been convicted of homicide, and had served a brief prison term. But free now in New York, and aided by Police Inspector McKee, Andrus is bent upon clearing his name. A clue as to his actual whereabouts on that tragic night, leads Andrus to the suburban shack of one "Midnight Mike." Here he is injured and, dazed, he stumbles upon the corpse of "Midnight Mike," himself. Jim hides out in a cheap local hotel that night and when next morning his silver flask is found by the body of the murdered man, Andrus is again wanted by the police. But Jim's loyal friend, Susan Dwight, helps him evade the law. Susan never had believed Andrus guilty of killing little Roger and she is sure that her grieving half-sister, Regina Pelham, still loves this man! Now, dimly, Jim recalls having been somewhere with "Midnight Mike" and a woman the night the lad had died beneath the wheels of his car.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

BEFORE 9 o'clock Andrus was safe in the loft of the Pelham barn. He hadn't been challenged on the way, nor had it been difficult to get in. Susan Dwight had explained the layout to him. The big square barn below, with the former stable opening out of it; the loft above was never used. The door at the foot of the ladder-like stairs was rusted shut on its wheel. But a window on a landing inside the stairwell could easily be opened. Andrus had climbed through the window. The huge loft was ell shaped. At the oack of the shorter leg there was a toilet, a rusty sink an army cot with a pile of faded blankets and quilts on it and two old chairs. The place had last been used by a gardener when Mrs. Pelham was alive, and not since. After that it had been left to rats and mice and spiders.

The place was bitterly cold. Andrus kept his coat on. Dragging a backless chair to the front windows, he sat down facing them. He had an excellent view of the back of the house and part of the side. After a few minutes headlights came up the steep winding drive.

It was Susan Dwight and Lofting in Regina's old Chevy. Lofting drove the car into the barn and they got out. Their voices floated up and clearly through the floor boards. Susan said, "That steak was good, wasn't it. Brr, it's cold," and Lofting said, "It certainly is. I think there's a storm coming. I ought to have gone back to New York tonight. If it snows and the snow piles up—"

"Don't be silly, Barry. You can just as easily go down in the morning."

They left the barn, their arms linked, mounted the back steps and went inside. Lights flashed on. Susan and Lofting were in the pantry, Susan getting ice out of the refrigerator. They vanished. Edith and Frederick Pelham suddenly appeared before Andrus. The moon was bright and he could see them clearly. They had evidently come round the barn; their own house was only a stone's throw away on the hill above. They were talking. Andrus couldn't hear what they said. They turned under the walls, crossed the lawn and went in through a side door. Presently the nurse, Mrs. Casserly, came down the back stairs into the kitchen, put a kettle on the stove and began arranging a tray.

Andrus wanted a cigaret, but Susan had warned him about showing a light and he was still sitting there, too listless to move, when a curious little scene took place. Lights sprang up in a room on the second floor. Double exposure—it was a replica of one of those trick stagesets where you see into two rooms at once. Mrs. Casserly bustling about in the kitchen, tall and angular and busy; it was Edith Pelham who had entered the room on the floor above.

The room was a bedroom. Regina's sister-in-law stood with her back to the closed door looking around. The furniture consisted of a bed, a high-boy, a dressing table and two chairs. Edith Pelham went quickly to the highboy and began opening and closing drawers as though she were searching for something. The dressing table next; she was at the dressing table when she raised her head sharply in a listening gesture, closed the drawer, hurried across the floor and disappeared through a door on the far side, a bathroom door, dousing the lights as she did so.

The room was in darkness for only a moment. The actresses had changed places. Light again; it was switched on by Mrs. Casserly. The bedroom was evidently hers. She entered it smiling. She was in a cheerful mood, seemed to be humming. She started for the dressing table and stood still.

Something about the dressing table, some sign the other woman had left held her rigid, hands on her hips, her head forward, her feet rooted to the floor. She continued to gaze at the dressing table for a long moment, then roused. Crossing to the bathroom door, she looked into the bathroom, now dark, closed the door, and slid a bolt to. She then went to a closet beyond the highboy and dragged a suitcase out. She opened the suitcase, looked into it, secured the case and put it back in the closet. Her manner and bearing now altogether changed, she left the room, locking the door behind her when she went—at least she had the key in her fingers.

A curious little affair . . . Andrus stared into the black and silver night at the big house. A very curious affair . . . Edith Pelham had searched for something in Mrs. Casserly's room. She had something in her possession. Mrs. Casserly had been in the house the night Roger was killed. She had been frightened when she saw him the other day at the Ludwick station, frightened just now when she discovered that someone had been in her room . . . What was Mrs. Casserly afraid of?

He sat on for some time thinking about it. He watched Edith and Frederick Pelham come out of the house and walk up the drive toward the barn. But the show wasn't over. Suddenly Edith Pelham gave a shrill cry and pointed. "Fred—a man, over there under the ash . . ." Her nerves were certainly on edge. There was nothing under the spread of the tree by the trunk. Frederick Pelham walked a few yards across grass, peered, returned, took his wife's arm, muttered something that sounded like "nonsense" and they walked off.

It wasn't nonsense. Looking closely where Edith Pelham had pointed, Andrus saw part of the tree trunk detach itself and move. It was a man. He strolled out into the moonlight and on toward the front of the house. His dark figure was clearly outlined. He was tall and wore some sort of light-colored coat. He didn't seem to be in any hurry. Beyond the semi-circular porch at the front and to the right of the house, where the ground rose in a knoll, there was a stone bench. The man seated himself on the bench in a negligent attitude, legs stretched out in front of him, arms folded. The front of the house was still lit up. The man on the bench gazed through the windows of living room and hall, as Andrus himself had gazed into the rooms at the back.

Sweat broke out on Andrus' forehead. Police—the man was a plainclothesman, watching the house. Watching Susan Dwight? The fellow was completely calm, collected, couldn't be anything else but a policeman. Andrus pushed his chair farther back into darkness and stood. As though they were connected by invisible strings the man on the bench got up too and walked away. The lights were going out. Presently the house was black.

DIET AND HEALTH

Causes of Fainting

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

HAVE you ever fainted? Know why you did?

You can probably blame your abdomen or legs, or at least the blood vessels in them. Or again, maybe your collar or tie was too tight.

Let me explain.

Causes of Fainting

Fainting is usually caused by fright, a drug reaction, a temperature change, severe pain or sudden loss of a large amount of blood.

Any of those conditions can dilate or widen the blood vessels in your legs or abdomen. When this happens, large amounts of blood flow into these widened vessels and not enough goes to the brain. Robbed of an adequate supply of blood, your brain can do nothing but permit you to lapse into unconsciousness.

Long Standing

Fainting may also occur if you've been standing for an exceptionally long period of time. Also, a tight collar may cause you to faint, especially if you are one of those who are extremely sensitive to pressure on nerves along the large blood vessels in the neck.

Fortunately, Nature helps you revive, in the event you faint. If you lose consciousness, naturally you will fall. Ordinarily, this will put your head on a level with the rest of your body and make it easier for the blood to flow to the brain once again.

How to Help

The best thing you can do for a person who has fainted is to stretch him out so his head is tilted downward and his feet are raised slightly. This will help him regain consciousness much faster than if he were to sit with his head between his knees. Never force a person who has fainted to sit up until he has recovered completely.

You can loosen his collar, too. This will be especially helpful if the neck nerves have caused the temporary black-out.

Once he has regained consciousness, give him some sweetened fluids. This might bring marked improvement if he is sensitive to hunger fainting.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

C. M.: I have been taking barbiturate drugs for a number of years for my nerves. How can I stop taking them?

Answer: Barbiturate drugs are not habit-forming. You must merely make up your mind that you will not take any more of these preparations.

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON — Displacement of fats, oils and sugar in foods and beverages by chemicals, poses such a potential threat to normal agricultural crops that it has aroused the farm bloc on Capitol Hill. Manufactured pills cannot yet supplant a juicy steak, potatoes and biscuits, but the increasing appearance of synthetic substitutes on the dinner table has aroused the American Farm Bureau and the Department of Agriculture.

Principal target is the continued substitution of chemicals for fats and oils in bakery products, and of chemical sweeteners in soft drinks and canned fruits. The displacement threatens to pile up Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's present surpluses of wheat, fats, oils and similar products, which already run into billions of dollars. Eventually, the tendency could upset the country's whole farm structure.

Unfortunately for opponents of this dietitic movement, the appeal of the new ingredients to a weight - conscious public, especially feminine housewives and purchasers, is greater than is generally realized.

* * *

BAN LIMITED — The Farm Bureau demands that the Food and Drug Administration be given greater authority to prohibit the use of synthetic ingredients until their nontoxicity is proved. At present, Food and Drug may ban them only if it can show that such ingredients are harmful for human consumption. And the bureau's inspection and testing personnel and facilities are limited.

Two important members of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee have introduced measures to this effect. They are Rep. J. Percy Priest of Tennessee, committee chairman, and Rep. Joseph P. O'hara of Minnesota, ranking Republican on the committee. Although they hope for action at this session, so many industrial interests would be affected adversely that prolonged and bitter controversy is expected.

It will be another of several rows between urban and rural factions on Capitol Hill. They have already squared off on the Administration's $101 billion highway program, and the farm bloc's effort to restore 90 per cent parity payments on farm products.

* * *

POLITICS — The alliance of Representatives Priest, a key Democrat, and O'Hara, a conservative Republican, reveals that the controversy will ignore party lines. Priest is thinking of displacement of the South's cotton, peanut, soybean and vegetable oils, also sugar, while O'Hara is concerned for his state's wheat markets.

There are high stakes, agricultural, industrial and economic, in this hardly noticed struggle. The chemical industry has expanded tremendously since World War II and seeks new outlets. Potential displacement of fats and oils by this means has been estimated at 500 million pounds annually. There is such a sizable surplus now that the government subsidizes their export, and there is hardly enough storage room for wheat overproduction.

Cane and beet sugar growers in the United States are harassed already by Cuban and Puerto Rican competition. More than a score of Southern and Western senators are behind a bill to increase domestic producers' share of the American market. Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, top Democrat on the Senate Agriculture Committee, heads the movement.

* * *

SUBSTITUTES — Food and drug set up standards for ingredients in bakery goods in 1953. It banned certain chemicals, including those guaranteed to keep bread soft longer than will fats and oils. But there are no such standards for sweets, such as cakes, prepared mixes, cookies, etc. It is unlikely that any will be established in this field for some time, due to many complexities.

As yet, sugar substitutes are relatively small. But their use is growing, in view of housewives, understandable desire for ecoromy in housekeeping and to keep their waistlines to a fashionable minimum.

You can oven-fry fish fillets. Dip the fillets, cut in serving-size pieces, in milk, then in flour; now dip in a mixture of slightly beaten egg, water and salt and finally roll in fine dry bread crumbs. Place prepared fillets in buttered baking dish; dot well with butter and bake in very hot (500 degrees) oven about 10 minutes or until cooked through and browned.

When you are stewing or steaming chicken, remember that it takes chicken pieces about as long as a whole bird to cook.

You can oven-fry fish fillets. Dip the fillets, cut in serving-size pieces, in milk, then in flour; now dip in a mixture of slightly beaten egg, water and salt and finally roll in fine dry bread crumbs. Place prepared fillets in buttered baking dish; dot well with butter and bake in very hot (500 degrees) oven about 10 minutes or until cooked through and browned.

When you are stewing or steaming chicken, remember that it takes chicken pieces about as long as a whole bird to cook.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The admirals and generals and high government officials will probably eat at home for a while.

Adm. Robert B. Carney certainly must wish he hadn't gone to an off-the-record dinner with newsmen March 24. There's been indigestion in Washington ever since.

President Eisenhower disagrees with what Carney is reported to have said. Carney denies he said what some reporters wrote that he said. And newsmen who were there can't agree among themselves on what he said.

As a result of this all-around foulup, off-the-record dinners may cease for a while. Probably not for long though. Newsmen and high government officials have been getting together at them for years. The officials are the invited guests of the reporters. This is the purpose:

To get inside information which can be used in spot news stories or as background or preparation for events that unfold later.

There is almost always one understanding: The official talking off the record is not to be quoted by name or identified as the source of the information. This doesn't always work. If the news he gives out is sensational enough, his name eventually may leak out.

But if the individual doing the talking can't be identified in a story, how then can reporters get out to the public the information he provided? They do it in various ways.

And just because they do it in various ways, it is clear they do not have a fixed agreement among themselves on how the information is to be handled.

Some attribute their information to "authoritative sources" or "persons high in the administration." Some undertake to say on their own that what they heard, or thought they heard, is a fact, as they did in Carney's case.

Carney, although not named at first, was reported by some newsmen as saying the Red Chinese were expected to start an attack on the Matsu and Quemoy islands by mid-April. Others said he believed the Reds would simply be "capable" of such an attack by then or later. Carney's name soon leaked out.

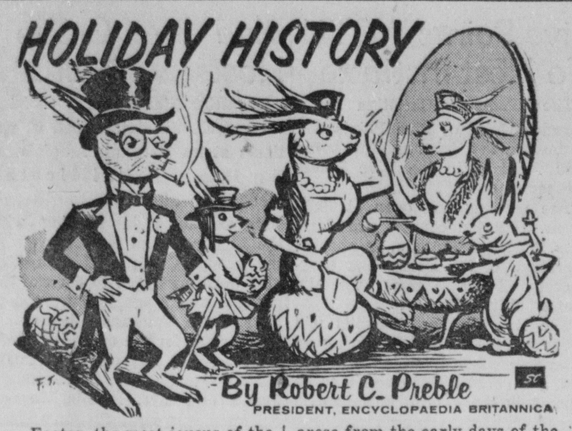

While the country was still shocked by these stories indicating a nearness of war, another administration figure told newsmen at a similar dinner a few nights later the administration had no information on an impending attack.

According to the agreement, this source was not quoted as saying that in the stories which followed. Some of them said flatly Eisenhower had no such information. Some newspaper readers might have gotten the impression Eisenhower himself said that. Other newsmen wrote that "administration sources" said no attack was expected.

Several newspapers later said these stories stemmed from James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary.

Then Eisenhower had a public news conference. He appeared displeased with Carney. He said he had no information of an impending attack.

This week Carney denied to a Senate committee he had predicted an attack by mid-April. Some reporters who were at dinner with him then said he did make the prediction. Others said he didn't.

Easter, the most joyous of the Christian festivals, is named for a pagan goddess, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Before Christianity reached the Angles and Saxons, they held a festival in honor of Eostre, or Ostara, the goddess of spring, every April. With the advent of Christianity, however, the festival was celebrated in honor of the resurrection of Christ.

The date on which Easter must fall was determined according to the traditional regulation of the council of Nice, from the following conditions: Easter must be celebrated on a Sunday; this Sunday must follow the 14th day of the paschal moon, so that if the 14th of the paschal moon falls on a Sunday then Easter must be celebrated on the Sunday following; the paschal moon is that of which the 14th day falls on or next follows the day of the vernal equinox; the equinox is fixed invariably in the calendar on the 21st of March. Therefore, Easter Sunday cannot happen earlier than the 22nd of March, or later than the 25th of April.

Many of our Easter customs have been passed down through the ages — the practice of eating eggs on Easter Sunday probably arose from the early days of the church when the eating of eggs was forbidden during Lent, and therefore greatly looked forward to at the end of that season. The ancient Egyptians and Persians also practiced the custom of coloring and eating eggs during their spring festival — the egg being the symbol of fertility and renewed life. The color red used in dying eggs has been variously interpreted as signifying the sun, fire, the blood of Christ shed on Calvary and the joy of Easter. The use of purple is considered a sign of royalty, and therefore suitable to honor Christ, the King.

The Easter Bunny also came to Christianity from antiquity, the hare being associated with the moon in the legends of ancient Egypt, and being symbolic of abundant life because they bear so many young during the course of a year.

The idea of the new Easter outfit may revert to the old belief that it was considered unlucky not to wear some new article of clothing or personal decoration on Easter; or it may spring from the idea that Eastertide is the time of casting off the old and the beginning of the new.

She Pays Fine For His Kiss

OMAHA (AP)—When Omaha police saw Mason D. Wagner, 24, Council Bluffs, Iowa, kissing his fiancee while driving his car they decided it constituted reckless driving.

In Traffic Court, Judge Robert Nelson agreed and fined Wagner $15 and costs. Then the judge asked: "Was it worth it."

Wagner merely smiled.

Court officers said Wagner's fiancee paid the fine.

Forest Fire Starters Sought

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Forestry officers today hunted the people who touched off a giant forest fire in eastern North Carolina.

The fire was brought under control yesterday after burning some 203,000 acres.

Asst. State Forester Paul W. Tillman said it was deliberately set. It broke out by Lake Phelps in Tyrrell City March 30 and swept 20 miles, burning into Hyde and Washington counties.

Tillman said it would take a long drenching rain to completely put out the fire because of the peaty soil.

Maryland Plant Shaken By Blast

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Exploding fumes in the refrigerating plant caused an estimated $100,000 damage yesterday to the C. A. Swanson & Son Co., one of the country's largest poultry processing plants. Fire spread through a storage building. About 500 employes fled to safety.

FATHER OF 12 MINOR CHILDREN, Henry Trout, a farmer, of Damascus, Md., holds a batch of Social Security checks while the youngsters and their mother look on. By the time the youngest of the brood has reached 18, Social Security agents estimate the members of one of the largest farm families will have drawn $25,000. They had 20 children, 16 of whom are still living. (International Soundphoto)

2,525 Atlantic Greyhound Bus Drivers Strike

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A strike of 2,525 Atlantic Greyhound bus drivers and other employes today idled the Southeastern transportation system serving 10 states.

The long-heralded strike, affecting 725 drivers and 1,800 other employes, began at midnight. That was the deadline set by the AFL Motor Coach Employes Union, Division 1493, last Monday when its demands for higher pay and a contract equal to those for drivers of other Greyhound systems were not met.

Atlantic Greyhound, headquartered here, is an affiliate of the nationwide Greyhound system. It operates in all or parts of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

According to an ancient superstition, the entrance to the infernal regions was through a volcanic crater lake near Naples, Italy.

Lady Eden Groomed For Job By Gracious Lady Churchill

LONDON (AP) — In her younger days, politically conscious Clarissa Spencer - Churchill did more debating than dating. And at 32 she made Anthony Eden propose several times before she said yes.

The blonde, blue-eyed aristocrat is now, at 34, completing a round trip. As the niece of Prime Minister Churchill she left No. 10 Downing St. to go to her wedding. Now she goes back as the wife of Churchill's successor, and the Edens take over the official home of British prime ministers.

Like her husband, she has been understudying her new job for a long time. Sir Anthony has watched and learned from Sir Winston during the years of the latter Churchill era. Lady Eden has been studying under Lady Churchill.

Because of the admiration she has for Clementine Churchill, it is probable changes will be few in the running of the official residence and in the manner of serving as hostess for Britain's Prime Minister.

Britons generally agree a prime minister's wife can best do her job by being occasionally seen and never heard. Lady Eden fits the mold.

She is 5 feet 7. She's trim, a little on the lean side and not given to putting on weight. She is naturally shy.

Before World War II, when she knew Anthony Eden only as a colleague of her uncle's, Clarissa was one of Britain's bright and politically conscious young women. They debated political issues and cared little—or said they did, anyway—for social activities.

Her mother Lady Gwendeline Spencer - Churchill was the daughter of the seventh earl of Abingdon. Her father was Maj. John Strange Spencer - Churchill, a descendant of the Dukes of Marlborough. Her grandmother was Jennie Jerome, of New York, favored daughter of Leonard Jerome, American millionaire.

Her mother died in 1941 and her father, called "the Churchill nobody knew," died in 1945. He was not wealthy. Clarissa inherited 200 pounds ($560) a year and a small country cottage.

She grew up in London and Paris, went to excellent schools and learned to speak with the "correct" accent so necessary in London society. She wore properly subdued, often black and grey, tailored clothes. Silk scarves, matching her eyes, added a little color. Her shoes had outlandishly high heels.

She looked and acted like a well-born Englishwoman. In 1938 she was named London's most beautiful debutante.

She studied briefly at London University and Oxford. She worked on the English edition of Vogue and did film publicity work for Sir Alexander Korda for $2,600 a year. Her war contribution was decoding work for the Ministry of Information.

After her uncle and future husband helped steer the Allies to victory, she took a sixth-floor apartment near Regents Park. Her meals mostly came from a Greek restaurant nearby. She has a homey side.

Once she was robbed and it developed she kept her jewels, some of them Churchill family heirlooms, in a butter can buried underneath the tomatoes down below her sink.

Occasionally she gave a cocktail party. No one recalls seeing Sir Anthony at one of the parties.

Eden got a divorce in 1950 from his first wife Beatrice. She had gone off to the United States "bored to tears with politics," and saying she "was not cut out to be a foreign minister's wife." Their son Nicholas had been living in Canada. Another son, Simon, was killed in Burma during the war.

As midsummer of 1952 passed there was hardly a hint that Clarissa and Eden were thinking about marriage. They saw each other occasionally but they did not appear to be particularly close friends.

Then in late summer came the social bombshell. Clarissa moved to Downing Street and the engagement was announced. Their friends say Eden had to ask her not once but several times. Almost without a pause the couple was married.

Somewhere, sandwiched among those events, Sir Winston had checked to see if it could be a church marriage. The answer from the Church of England was "no" because of Eden's divorce. So they were married in Caxton register office.

Eden at 55, was 23 years older than his bride.

They have been living in fashionable Carlton Gardens in London's West End, with a country place in Buckinghamshire called Dorneywood House. Now in addition to 10 Downing St. they will take over Chquers, the country home Britain furnishes its first ministers.

Lady Eden is expected to continue traveling with her husband. She also can be expected to launch a few ships, help lay cornerstones for hospitals and welfare houses, visit auto shows and let tankers be named for her if the owners insist.

She will be hostess when Queen Elizabeth visits No. 10, and hostess also for every type of political leader who visits London.

Publicity Advice Given Phone Chiefs

BELLAIR, Fla. (AP) — An Ohio telephone company president told fellow independent operators they should cooperate with local newspapers to get stories run about company operations.

Speaking on advertising and public relations at the spring conference of th U. S. Independent Telephone Assn., Col. William C. Henry of Bellevue said:

"Undoubtedly the publicity we obtain from stories printed in the news columns of our local newspapers is the most valuable from the standpoint of reader attention.

"But don't try to impose on your local newspaper. Remember the publisher is in the business of selling advertising space."

TRAPPED FOR 54 HOURS in a cave beneath the Henry Hudson Parkway, New York, three teenagers were rescued by police who dug them out of a man-made cavern where they had been sealed in by a small landslide. The youngsters are Jacqueline Weber, 13, her sister, Joele, 16, and Ronald Tevlin, 15, who decided to run away from home after a quarrel with his father. At left, an officer brings Joele up from the cave, which looks out on the Hudson River. In center, Joseph Weber escorts Jacqueline to his car. At right, Ronald is taken to Jewish Memorial Hospital for an examination.

Nixon Tries Out Open House Idea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon held "open house" in his Capitol office Tuesday for an estimated 1,000 tourists.

GRANDMOTHER 'ON THE GO'

Pennsylvania Woman, 65, Has Conducted 400 Sightseeing Tours With Profits Converted to Aid of Ailing Persons

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON
Central Press Correspondent

Mrs. Frank Thompson

WEST CHESTER, Pa. — America's most traveled grandmother may be a 65-year-old housewife from this county seat community who gets her biggest thrill out of taking people on tours to all parts of the United States—with the project aiding cancer victims.

Until 1948, Mrs. Frank Thompson was busy caring for her husband and three sons. The Thompsons had made a vacation trip to Pittsburgh and another to Boston, but that had been the limit of their traveling.

In the summer of 1948 an aunt declared she would like to make a visit to Atlantic City, N. J., but couldn't get anyone to go along. Mrs. Thompson suggested they charter a bus and invite some relatives and friends to make the trip and share expenses.

* * *

THE SEASHORE journey proved a huge success and the Friendship Traveling club of Chester county had its beginning. Since then, Mrs. Thompson has guided almost 12,000 people on over 400 trips.

The trips have included one-day visits to nearby points of interest in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware and to such faraway places as Florida, Canada, Chicago and other places.

The club is strictly a non-profit group. Costs of trips are kept to a minimum but all comforts are provided. A recent Florida trip cost $160 per person, exclusive of meals, but including fare, hotel and sightseeing tours.

Mrs. Thompson handles all details of trips and her travels have given her a close acquaintance with hotel executives, travel agents and chamber of commerce officials in all parts of the country.

* * *

ALL CLUB TRIPS are made by bus. When the group plans sightseeing journeys while on a trip, another bus is hired.

Membership in the club is 25 cents a year and Mrs. Harry Wills, also of West Chester, is treasurer. All dues and money contributed by the travelers after each trip is turned over to cancer victims in this area.

The club has already distributed more than $1,000 in cash, medicine and gifts to the sick. One of its special projects is helping a young boy in a nearby community who has lost his sight because of cancer.

The trips draw persons from throughout southeastern Pennsylvania, South Jersey and nearby Delaware. Mrs. Thompson has escorted people ranging in age from five to 85.

* * *

THE CLUB makes several trips each year to such points as New York City, Williamsburg, Va., Hershey and Hamburg, Pa., and other points of interest.

Mrs. Thompson has also escorted parties to ice shows, musical events, theater presentations and other activities in Philadelphia, 25 miles distant.

One of the Thompson tours last summer included a 14-day trip to Canada, the group visiting such points as Toronto, Montreal and the Saguenay river area. She often takes scout troops and school groups on one-day visits to nearby points.

Since organizing the club, Mrs. Thompson has gained many new friends. Several make all the trips she plans.

When his business schedule permits, her husband, a Wilmington, Del., druggist, often joins his wife on the trips.

Norman Peale Urges Courses On Commies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Norman Vincent Peale says he believes "schools must be free to teach the difference between imperial communism and our American competitive system."

"It is a great mistake," he told a regional convention of the American Assn. of school administrators recently, "for anybody or any group of people to set themselves up as protectors of the schools from the standpoint of disallowing the right of the teacher to teach and the pupil to be taught any matter of sociological, national or international concern."

Dr. Peale, a native of Greene County, is now minister of Marble Collegiate Church in New York City.

"I believe that the common sense of the American school child can always be trusted to discriminate between truth and error," he said, "especially when he is taught by honest, upright, sturdy American citizens, such as constitute the great teaching profession in the United States."

Dr. Peale said he believes teachers have more influence on students than any other individuals, and that they should teach something about subversive doctrines so their students can be on guard against them.

"If we are to defeat communism," he said, "we must not avoid it, and the teacher, who in serious attempt to do this or to teach historic facts that are of international concern is impaled and discredited and smeared, is just as truly a victim of the enemies of his country as a soldier who suffers wounds on the field of battle."

PRESTWICK, Scotland (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham spoke to 5,000 American airmen and their friends at Prestwick Airport yesterday.

Graham made a plea for the acceptance of religion as a rule in life, but he did not ask listeners to come forward to make "decisions for Christ." Instead he asked for a show of hands. Many were raised.

Col. Rufus Ward, U. S. Air Force commander at Prestwick, invited Graham to the base.

Finest Hour of the Twenty-Four!

He's traveling his favorite highway behind the wheel of his favorite car—and he's about an hour out from his destination.

What a happy prospect for a happy hour!

Imagine, for instance, the marvelous rest and relaxation it will bring him.

He'll just sit there with his hands resting gently on the wheel . . . cradled by those deep, soft cushions . . . and with the soft sound of the wind for a lullaby.

And insofar as his driving is concerned—well, what could be more restful! The car's every movement will be regulated by the merest touch of toe and hand. Steering, for instance, will be little more than a gesture . . . and braking will require only the gentlest pressure on the pedal.

And what a wonderful time it will be to think and plan! For his mind will clear and his spirits will rise with each passing mile.

Yes, he's about to enjoy one of the finest hours of the whole twenty-four—and it may even be one of the most profitable!

In fact, many of America's foremost executives will tell you that some of their wisest business decisions have been made at the wheel of a Cadillac.

* * *

As you might have gathered, you've been missing out on something wonderful if you haven't treated yourself to an hour in a 1955 Cadillac.

That's why we say—come in soon and take a "sixty-minute vacation" in the "car of cars."

The keys are waiting for you—and you'll be welcome at any time.

GRANDMOTHER 'ON THE GO'

Pennsylvania Woman, 65, Has Conducted 400 Sightseeing Tours With Profits Converted to Aid of Ailing Persons

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON
Central Press Correspondent

WEST CHESTER, Pa. — America's most traveled grandmother may be a 65-year-old housewife from this county seat community who gets her biggest thrill out of taking people on tours to all parts of the United States—with the project aiding cancer victims.

Until 1948, Mrs. Frank Thompson was busy caring for her husband and three sons. The Thompsons had made a vacation trip to Pittsburgh and another to Boston, but that had been the limit of their traveling.

In the summer of 1948 an aunt declared she would like to make a visit to Atlantic City, N. J., but couldn't get anyone to go along. Mrs. Thompson suggested they charter a bus and invite some relatives and friends to make the trip and share expenses.

Mrs. Frank Thompson

* * *

THE SEASHORE journey proved a huge success and the Friendship Traveling club of Chester county had its beginning. Since then, Mrs. Thompson has guided almost 12,000 people on over 400 trips.

The trips have included one-day visits to nearby points of interest in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware and to such faraway places as Florida, Canada, Chicago and other places.

The club is strictly a non-profit group. Costs of trips are kept to a minimum but all comforts are provided. A recent Florida trip cost $160 per person, exclusive of meals, but including fare, hotel and sightseeing tours.

Mrs. Thompson handles all details of trips and her travels have given her a close acquaintance with hotel executives, travel agents and chamber of commerce officials in all parts of the country.

* * *

ALL CLUB TRIPS are made by bus. When the group plans sightseeing journeys while on a trip, another bus is hired.

Membership in the club is 25 cents a year and Mrs. Harry Wills, also of West Chester, is treasurer. All dues and money contributed by the travelers after each trip is turned over to cancer victims in this area.

The club has already distributed more than $1,000 in cash, medicine and gifts to the sick. One of its special projects is helping a young boy in a nearby community who has lost his sight because of cancer.

The trips draw persons from throughout southeastern Pennsylvania, South Jersey and nearby Delaware. Mrs. Thompson has escorted people ranging in age from five to 85.

* * *

THE CLUB makes several trips each year to such points as New York City, Williamsburg, Va., Hershey and Hamburg, Pa., and other points of interest.

Mrs. Thompson has also escorted parties to ice shows, musical events, theater presentations and other activities in Philadelphia, 25 miles distant.

One of the Thompson tours last summer included a 14-day trip to Canada, the group visiting such points as Toronto, Montreal and the Saguenay river area. She often takes scout troops and school groups on one-day visits to nearby points.

Since organizing the club, Mrs. Thompson has gained many new friends. Several make all the trips she plans.

Highway Patrol Promotions Told

COLUMBUS (AP) — Col. George Mingle, state highway patrol superintendent, has announced two promotions. They are: Lt. D. D. Stark, Cambridge district headquarters, to captain, and first Sgt. J. W. Brooks, Warren district headquarters, to lieutenant.

Stark will succeed Capt. S. B. Radcliffe as chief personnel officer at the patrol's Columbus general headquarters. Radcliffe last week replaced retiring Inspector J. W. Krichbaum.

Brooks replaces Lt. G. D. McConnell of Jackson district headquarters, reassigned to Cambridge to fill the vacancy created by Stark's promotion.

Theft In Jail Told

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—A former prison inmate has filed a claim for $84 for clothing he says was stolen from his cell while he was in court.

Fall Kills Man

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sebastian Miroglotta, 59, was injured fatally yesterday when he fell 15 feet from a ladder.

Norman Peale Urges Courses On Commies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Norman Vincent Peale says he believes "schools must be free to teach the difference between imperial communism and our American competitive system."

"It is a great mistake," he told a regional convention of the American Assn. of school administrators recently, "for anybody or any group of people to set themselves up as protectors of the schools from the standpoint of disallowing the right of the teacher to teach and the pupil to be taught any matter of sociological, national or international concern."

Dr. Peale, a native of Greene County, is now minister of Marble Collegiate Church in New York City.

"I believe that the common sense of the American school child can always be trusted to discriminate between truth and error," he said, "especially when he is taught by honest, upright, sturdy American citizens, such as constitute the great teaching profession in the United States."

Dr. Peale said he believes teachers have more influence on students than any other individuals, and that they should teach something about subversive doctrines so their students can be on guard against them.

"If we are to defeat communism," he said, "we must not avoid it, and the teacher, who in serious attempt to do this or to teach historic facts that are of international concern is impaled and discredited and smeared, is just as truly a victim of the enemies of his country as a soldier who suffers wounds on the field of battle."

5,000 U.S. Airmen Hear Evangelist

PRESTWICK, Scotland (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham spoke to 5,000 American airmen and their friends at Prestwick Airport yesterday.

Graham made a plea for the acceptance of religion as a rule in life, but he did not ask listeners to come forward to make "decisions for Christ." Instead he asked for a show of hands. Many were raised.

Col. Rufus Ward, U. S. Air Force commander at Prestwick, invited Graham to the base.

Stockholder Due To Come Into Glory

April To See Many Meetings, Battles For Coveted Proxies

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The stockholder comes into his glory this month. Bitter or beaming, he is trekking to annual meetings. At least 430 companies are holding meetings this month—70 of them on one day alone, April 26.

Hot battles for proxies are being staged prior to some of them. The most publicized is the squabble between Sewell Avery and Louis Wolfson for control of Montgomery Ward. That annual meeting is set for April 22 in Chicago.

The big bull market of the last 18 months has doubtless made a lot of new stockholders. "The public" started buying stocks last fall. And now for the first time many new shareholders are signing proxies or looking up transportation to the site of the annual meetings of the companies of which they now find themselves part owners.

Fights to win control of corporations aren't the only disputes that enliven stockholder meetings. The share owners often ask why their company didn't do better, why a rival outstripped it.

Dividend policies are often keenly discussed. Some stockholders would like to have more of the profits passed around and less retained for management to use in running or expanding the business. Prospects of stock splits are eagerly asked about. Management frequently has to answer questions about merger rumors.

And some stockholders are likely to be critical of the quality of the lunch, if any, that the company serves at the annual meeting.

The size of the turnouts at annual meetings has been growing steadily of recent years. Part of this is due to hot fights over control of some companies. More of it is traced to increased interest of stockholders in how their companies are run. And some of it is due to the increased number of shareholders of the giant corporations.

The New York Stock Exchange, in the April issue of its magazine, The Exchange, out today, points out that American Telephone & Telegraph had 1,307,215 owners at the start of the year. This was about three times the number of those holding stock in General Motors, the second in rank. Jersey Standard Oil was third, and General Electric fourth.

GE, however, added more new share owners last year than any other company, the number having increased by 49,478 to a total of 295,495. The company thinks that much of this gain can be traced to its three-for-one stock split last June. This lowered the market price for GE stock, bringing it within range of more of "the public" as well as of GE employes.

U.S. Steel was in fifth place with 221,896 stockholders. The next five highest, in order of total owners, wede: Cities Service, Socony Vacuum, RCA, Pennsylvania Railroad, and Consolidated Edison of New York.

At many of the stockholders meetings this month dividend prospects will be the big topic. Last year 417 of the 1,524 stock issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange paid higher cash dividends.

There has been an increasing tendency in recent months for corporate directors to pay out a greater proportion of earnings and to retain less in the business.

But the ratio of dividends to profits still varies widely—some companies paying out more than 80 per cent, some still retaining almost all earnings for future growth.

Shareholders of advanced years usually clamor the loudest for a greater pay-out in the present. Younger share owners are the easiest for management to convince that the money should be plowed back for growth.

Governor's Award Goes To Peale

COLUMBUS (AP)—The governor's Award for 1954, Ohio's highest tribute to a native son, has been awarded Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, author of "the Power of Positive Thinking."

The New York City pastor was given a plaque for "advancement of Ohio's prestige." Gov. Frank J. Lausche made the presentation yesterday before the Advertising Club of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Peale is a native of Bowersville, Greene County, and a former newsman in Findlay.

Ohio Real Estate Panel Honored

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Assn. of Real Estate Boards was honored yesterday for having moved and preserved the Ohio Company land office in Marietta, one of the first real estate offices in the country.

The 166-year-old building was moved last October from the banks of the Ohio River to the Marietta Campus Martius Museum. The National Assn. of Real Estate Boards gave the Ohio Association a plaque for its efforts.

Angered Mother Marches Escapee Son Back To Jail

DYERSBURG, Tenn. (AP)—Jailer Frank Gregory sleepily answered the door early yesterday and was surprised to see young James Beard, firm in the grip of his mother.

He investigated and found that five of his Negro prisoners had battered through the jail wall under cover of a thunderstorm. Beard was one of them.

Another of the escapees was caught later but three are still at large.

Gregory said the men used a window weight, a teaspoon and a hinge from a folding bunk to break off a rusty steel plate used to patch a hole cut through the wall in another breakout years ago.

Lawyer, 93, Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Harry Marshall Farnsworth, who probably practiced law here longer than any other Cleveland barrister, died yesterday at 93. He was admitted to the bar in 1882 and retired from practice in 1950.

FLAMES SHOOT SKYWARD as a swift-soaring fire reduces an historic mansion in San Rafael, Calif., to ashen ruins. Eight men perished in their sleep or trying to crawl out and eight other persons were injured. The sprawling, 98-year-old structure was used in recent years as a boarding house called The Lodge. (International)

U.S. Job Picture Growing Better

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reports the nation's job picture improved seasonally in March with employment rising a half million and unemployment declining 200,000.

The Commerce and Labor Departments said in a joint report there were "widespread gains" in factory employment as well as in out-door activity such as farming and construction.

The March increase in employment varied with the decline in the idle list because a number of farm women and young persons joined the labor force.

Coal Agency Set

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government has set up a new ministry in an apparent move to boost coal production. It announced last night the formation of a ministry of construction of coal industry enterprises to be headed by Leonid G. Malnikov, former ambassador to Romania.

Shareholders of advanced years usually clamor the loudest for a greater pay-out in the present. Younger share owners are the easiest for management to convince that the money should be plowed back for growth.

Governor's Award Goes To Peale

COLUMBUS (AP)—The governor's Award for 1954, Ohio's highest tribute to a native son, has been awarded Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, author of "the Power of Positive Thinking."

The New York City pastor was given a plaque for "advancement of Ohio's prestige." Gov. Frank J. Lausche made the presentation yesterday before the Advertising Club of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Peale is a native of Bowersville, Greene County, and a former newsman in Findlay.

Ohio Real Estate Panel Honored

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Assn. of Real Estate Boards was honored yesterday for having moved and preserved the Ohio Company land office in Marietta, one of the first real estate offices in the country.

The 166-year-old building was moved last October from the banks of the Ohio River to the Marietta Campus Martius Museum. The National Assn. of Real Estate Boards gave the Ohio Association a plaque for its efforts.

Angered Mother Marches Escapee Son Back To Jail

DYERSBURG, Tenn. (AP)—Jailer Frank Gregory sleepily answered the door early yesterday and was surprised to see young James Beard, firm in the grip of his mother.

He investigated and found that five of his Negro prisoners had battered through the jail wall under cover of a thunderstorm. Beard was one of them.

Another of the escapees was caught later but three are still at large.

Gregory said the men used a window weight, a teaspoon and a hinge from a folding bunk to break off a rusty steel plate used to patch a hole cut through the wall in another breakout years ago.

Lawyer, 93, Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Harry Marshall Farnsworth, who probably practiced law here longer than any other Cleveland barrister, died yesterday at 93. He was admitted to the bar in 1882 and retired from practice in 1950.

FLAMES SHOOT SKYWARD as a swift-soaring fire reduces an historic mansion in San Rafael, Calif., to ashen ruins. Eight men perished in their sleep or trying to crawl out and eight other persons were injured. The sprawling, 98-year-old structure was used in recent years as a boarding house called The Lodge. (International)

U.S. Job Picture Growing Better

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reports the nation's job picture improved seasonally in March with employment rising a half million and unemployment declining 200,000.

The Commerce and Labor Departments said in a joint report there were "widespread gains" in factory employment as well as in out-door activity such as farming and construction.

The March increase in employment varied with the decline in the idle list because a number of farm women and young persons joined the labor force.

Coal Agency Set

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government has set up a new ministry in an apparent move to boost coal production. It announced last night the formation of a ministry of construction of coal industry enterprises to be headed by Leonid G. Malnikov, former ambassador to Romania.

Projected Trans-Atlantic Voice Cable To Climax Undersea Communication Saga

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK Although the name of no colorful individual like that of Cyrus W. Field, the layer of the first transatlantic cable, yet has emerged in connection with it, the launching of the two-year long project to link this city and London by a great new 1,950-mile undersea voice cable is about to start and has the communications engineers of three nations in a dither.

As soon as winter storms abate, the biggest cable-laying vessel in the world, H.M.S. Monarch of the British General Post Office, will start snaking out the twin lines from Oban, Scotland, to Newfoundland.

Across Newfoundland and through the straits to Nova Scotia a larger diameter single-line cable will link with the transradio hookup to Portland, Me., and finally New York. By Christmas, 1956, 36 calls may be carried on simultaneously, instead of the present 14 by radiophone.

The 21 cables already spanning the Atlantic are all telegraphic circuits transmitting the same type of dot-dash signals that Field finally established in 1866 after many heart-breaking failures.

* * *

THE ANOMALY of the first voice cable being laid at a time when many land lines are being abandoned in favor of radio transmission even on rural telephone systems, is explained by the fact that atmospheric conditions interfere with many transatlantic calls.

The new cable will provide crystal-clear conversations, thanks to ingenious new boosters developed by American engineers for United States-Cuba cables.

The volume of calls between England and the United States has risen from only 2,000 in 1927, to more than 100,000 per year. Often there are rather long delays in completing the average of 250 daily circuits. You pay from $9 to $12 for three minutes to England, depending upon the time of day.

The $14 million project is being paid 50 per cent by the United States, 41 per cent by Britain, and nine per cent by Canada. A new five-acre plant was built on the Thames embankment at Erith near Greenwich, England, where more than two hundred technicians are making the cable.

* * *

IT IS a far cry from the first cable Field tried to lay in the 1850s, when he raised $1,500,000—a huge sum for that day—from such investors as Lady Byron and William Makepeace Thackery. His first attempt ended a few hundred miles west of Ireland, and $500,000 worth of cable was lost.

Field's persistence provided a stirring saga of science and invention. A year later he tried having two ships, both big wooden frigates, meet at the center of the Atlantic and then head in opposite directions. After the splice snapped three times, the fourth attempt appeared to be crowned with success.

For three weeks the world rejoiced over its new communications link, and then the cable mysteriously went dead. Field then chartered the world's largest steamer, the Great Eastern which was to become known as "The Great Iron Ship" and finally reached his goal.

* * *

IT WOULD be as if the Queen Mary or the United States were assigned to the voice cable laying today. The Monarch, however, can do a much better job with its highly technical facilities.

The delicate work of installing 118 boosters, each containing 300 valves and 6,000 other electrical components, must largely be done on the high seas. They boost in only one direction, and that necessitates the twin cables until the shorter Newfoundland-Nova Scotia hop is reached.

Made to last 20 years, the boosters must be installed with great care because some will be sunk to a depth of three miles and a single failure will cost an estimated $60,000 and require three weeks to repair.

It was the riddle of making a cable strong enough to stand the huge pressures and strains, and well enough insulated to survive in the slimy and shadowy depths of the ocean, that for so long frustrated Field. The solutions of these problems are regarded as the classics of engineering achievement in the present cable.

The cable itself is little more than an inch in diameter, and its core is a copper tube. The old standby covering of gutta percha has given way to the lighter and tougher polythene, a British invention.

Despite its suppleness, the cable weighs three tons per nautical mile. It is consuming 2,700 tons of copper, 11,000 tons of steel wire, 1,800 tons of jute yarn ,and 2.4 million yards of cotton cloth, all covered by 1,400 tons of polythene.

Ultra-modern as it is, the cable still will not permit coaxial television transmission. That will have to wait for a later day!

Alabama Town Hit By Twister

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A tornado lashed the town of Altoona, Ala., last night, leaving a trail of ruined and damaged buildings, and high winds accompanied by torrential rains whipped Birmingham and other north Alabama areas.

Damage at Altoona, 10 miles west of Gadsden, was estimated at about $50,000. A 50-foot new field house at Altoona High School was removed and set down in one piece over railroad tracks about 30 feet distant.

Recluse Found Possessor Of Lush Estate

CLEVELAND (AP) — The household goods the spinster librarian left in her littered apartment were so worthless the city health department had them destroyed.

And malnutrition helped bring on her death in City Hospital a year ago. She weighed only 90 pounds.

Yet, Miss Anna M. Kramer, it develops, was a rich woman when she died at 63.

Thirteen cousins have gone to court to win a share of the estate, which added up to $116,564.

Miss Kramer left a third of it to the Cleveland Area Heart Society and the rest to the American Cancer Society, ignoring relatives.

Nearly $111,000 of the assets were in nine savings accounts. Another $5,300 was in savings bonds.

After the death of her mother seven years ago, Miss Kramer lived the life of a recluse once she returned to the apartment from Cleveland Public Library, where she worked for 30 years.

She did not need to live on her salary, because her father, a West Side jeweler who died when she was a girl, had left a large inheritance.

A-Weapon Ban Urged By Solon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) has appealed to President Eisenhower to ban the use of atomic weapons in any defense of Quemoy and Matsu. He said in a statement that the employment of other than conventional weapons in fending off any Red Chinese attack against the islands "could provoke massive retaliation against American families and American homes."

Eddie Stanky Seen Irked By Card Hurling

Haddix And Raschi Falter As Chisox Top Birds By 13-3 Score

The Associated Press

Unless Eddie Stanky really is a changed man this season, $5 will get you $10 the scrappy little manager of the St. Louis Cardinals had his hands jammed in his hip pockets, staring bitterly at the ground and ripping the turf in short jabs with his spikes at the Little Rock ball park yesterday.

Harvey Haddix, his southpaw ace, and the struggling Vic Raschi were belted for a 13-3 decision by the Chicago White Sox.

It was pitching, or the lack of it, that outweighed the Cards' hitting power and scuttled them in sixth place last season. Haddix particularly had trouble. He was off to a bad start and then, after gaining his form, he was injured and lost his effectiveness again.

Thus far this spring—with opening day just around the weekend—Haddix has had it rough. In five exhibition appearances he has a 0-3 record. Raschi, bothered by a bad back, made his first appearance in the White Sox game.

The man who done them wrong in Little Rock was Walt Dropo, swatting a three-run homer off Haddix and a two-run clout off Raschi. That pushed Dropo's home run production to six in eight days.

Haddix left in the fifth, trailing 7-0. Raschi was clipped for five runs in the sixth. Tony Jacobs came on in the seventh and the White Sox wound up with 19 hits.

In the first game to be played in a major league park this season, Brooklyn defeated Washington in Griffith Stadium 6-0. Carl Erskine blanked the Senators with some difficulty. He gave up 10 hits.

Brooklyn slugged Bob Porterfield for 8 of its 11 hits.

Billy Hoeft, trying to evade the Detroit bullpen, allowed just two hits, one a Hank Aaron home run, in six innings as the Tigers lost to Milwaukee 2-1.

Cleveland nudged the New York Giants 3-2. Dave Pope doubled across the winning run in the 10th. Jim Hearn looked good for the Giants, yielding just one earned run in the seven innings he worked. He also homered. Herb Score, the Indians' prize youngster, was touched for a first-inning run—the first he's allowed this spring—but no more in four frames.

Sammy White hit a home run in the fourth with two on to break up a duel between Boston's Ike Delock and Philadelphia's Murry Dickson. The Red Sox went on to win 9-3.

Baltimore edged Pittsburgh 3-2 when Roger Bowman walked Vern Stephens with the bases loaded in the ninth.

No player on the New York Giants roster was born in New York City. Only one, Hank Thompson, now makes his home there.

Pete Suder is the oldest player on the Philadelphia Athletics roster. He will be 39 on April 16.

Tiger Golfers Reverse Loss To Chillicothe

Circleville High School's golfers reversed a decision over Chillicothe Wednesday by the same score posted in the previous meeting.

CHS won the match 9 to 7 at Chillicothe. Ironically, Chillicothe won the match played here last week.

Larry Gordon again paced the Tigers. His card of 81 was good enough for four points. Ronnie Buskirk added three more points with his score of 87 with Phil Wantz getting the final two points.

Gordon	42-39	81	(4)
Marzluff	44-41	85	(0)
Buskirk	43-44	87	(3)
Irwin	45-43	88	(1)
Styers	52-50	102	(0)
Hurles	48-40	88	(4)
Wantz	45-47	92	(2)
Warth	52-42	94	(2)

Pete Kozloski of Plains, Pa., bowled the most sanctioned 300 games in 1954. He rolled five perfect games.

The youngest team in the American League is the Detroit Tigers. Their average age is 25.3 years.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — One member of the Cleveland Indians' big three pitching staff may not be ready for his regular turn when the season opens. That's Early Wynn.

Because of salary differences, Wynn didn't get into uniform until a week after the training camp opened, and two weeks ago he spent five days abed with flu. Now the flu bug has him again and he missed a chance to hurl yesterday at Charlotte. He still hasn't rounded into form.

But if Herb Score, who started for the Tribe in yesterday's 3-2 victory over the New York Giants, can keep up his exhibition game pace, the immediate need for Wynn won't be urgent. Score was touched for a run yesterday in the first inning, the only tally against him in 17 innings of exhibition game pitching. He gave up two hits.

One of the hits was Hank Thomson's triple over Centerfielder Larry Doby's head. It scored Willie Mays who had walked with two out.

Ray Narleski, who went to the hill for Score in the fifth, outshone the brilliant rookie by allowing only one hit in four innings — a homer by pitcher Jim Hearn, first man up against him.

Cleveland used a third strong young lefty, Don Mossi, to finish when Narleski was removed for a pinchhitter in the tenth.

A double by Dave Pope scored Al Smith from first with the winning run, defeating Hoyt Wilhelm, a knuckleballer who entered the game i the eighth.

Eddie Stanky Seen Irked By Card Hurling

Haddix And Raschi Falter As Chisox Top Birds By 13-3 Score

The Associated Press

Unless Eddie Stanky really is a changed man this season, $5 will get you $10 the scrappy little manager of the St. Louis Cardinals had his hands jammed in his hip pockets, staring bitterly at the ground and ripping the turf in short jabs with his spikes at the Little Rock ball park yesterday.

Harvey Haddix, his southpaw ace, and the struggling Vic Raschi were belted for a 13-3 decision by the Chicago White Sox.

It was pitching, or the lack of it, that outweighed the Cards' hitting power and scuttled them in sixth place last season. Haddix particularly had trouble. He was off to a bad start and then, after gaining his form, he was injured and lost his effectiveness again.

Thus far this spring—with opening day just around the weekend—Haddix has had it rough. In five exhibition appearances he has a 0-3 record. Raschi, bothered by a bad back, made his first appearance in the White Sox game.

The man who done them wrong in Little Rock was Walt Dropo, swatting a three-run homer off Haddix and a two-run clout off Raschi. That pushed Dropo's home run production to six in eight days.

Haddix left in the fifth, trailing 7-0. Raschi was clipped for five runs in the sixth. Tony Jacobs came on in the seventh and the White Sox wound up with 19 hits.

In the first game to be played in a major league park this season, Brooklyn defeated Washington in Griffith Stadium 6-0. Carl Erskine blanked the Senators with some difficulty. He gave up 10 hits.

Brooklyn slugged Bob Porterfield for 8 of its 11 hits.

Billy Hoeft, trying to evade the Detroit bullpen, allowed just two hits, one a Hank Aaron home run, in six innings as the Tigers lost to Milwaukee 2-1.

Cleveland nudged the New York Giants 3-2. Dave Pope doubled across the winning run in the 10th. Jim Hearn looked good for the Giants, yielding just one earned run in the seven innings he worked. He also homered. Herb Score, the Indians' prize youngster, was touched for a first-inning run—the first he's allowed this spring—but no more in four frames.

Sammy White hit a home run in the fourth with two on to break up a duel between Boston's Ike Delock and Philadelphia's Murry Dickson. The Red Sox went on to win 9-3.

Baltimore edged Pittsburgh 3-2 when Roger Bowman walked Vern Stephens with the bases loaded in the ninth.

No player on the New York Giants roster was born in New York City. Only one, Hank Thompson, now makes his home there.

Pete Suder is the oldest player on the Philadelphia Athletics roster. He will be 39 on April 16.

Tiger Golfers Reverse Loss To Chillicothe

Circleville High School's golfers reversed a decision over Chillicothe Wednesday by the same score posted in the previous meeting.

CHS won the match 9 to 7 at Chillicothe. Ironically, Chillicothe won the match played here last week.

Larry Gordon again paced the Tigers. His card of 81 was good enough for four points. Ronnie Buskirk added three more points with his score of 87 with Phil Wantz getting the final two points.

The Tiger linksmen travel to Washington C. H. next Tuesday. Results of Wednesday's match follow:

Gordon	42-39	81	(4)
Marzluff	44-41	85	(0)
Buskirk	43-44	87	(3)
Irwin	45-43	88	(1)
Styers	52-50	102	(0)
Hurles	48-40	88	(4)
Wantz	45-47	92	(2)
Warth	52-42	94	(2)

Pete Kozloski of Plains, Pa., bowled the most sanctioned 300 games in 1954. He rolled five perfect games.

The youngest team in the American League is the Detroit Tigers. Their average age is 25.3 years.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — One member of the Cleveland Indians' big three pitching staff may not be ready for his regular turn when the season opens. That's Early Wynn.

Because of salary differences, Wynn didn't get into uniform until a week after the training camp opened, and two weeks ago he spent five days abed with flu. Now the flu bug has him again and he missed a chance to hurl yesterday at Charlotte. He still hasn't rounded into form.

But if Herb Score, who started for the Tribe in yesterday's 3-2 victory over the New York Giants, can keep up his exhibition game pace, the immediate need for Wynn won't be urgent. Score was touched for a run yesterday in the first inning, the only tally against him in 17 innings of exhibition game pitching. He gave up two hits.

One of the hits was Hank Thomson's triple over Centerfielder Larry Doby's head. It scored Willie Mays who had walked with two out.

Ray Narleski, who went to the hill for Score in the fifth, outshone the brilliant rookie by allowing only one hit in four innings — a homer by pitcher Jim Hearn, first man up against him.

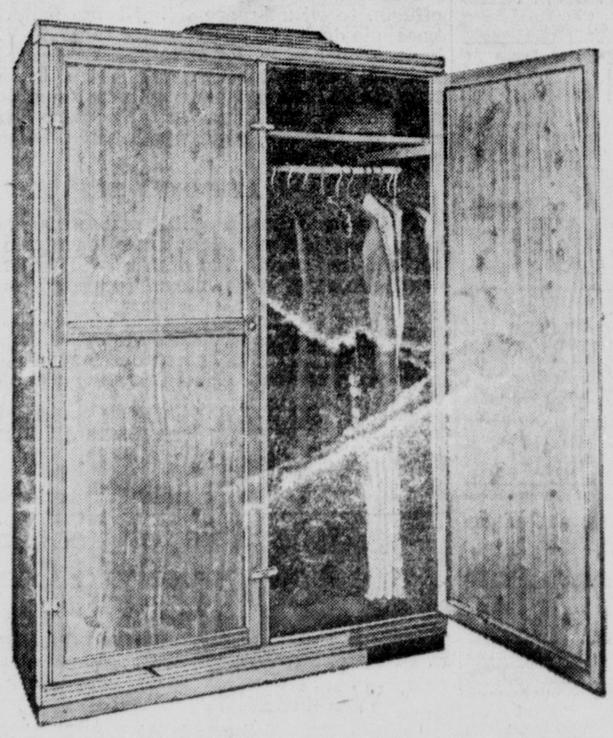

Cleveland used a third strong young lefty, Don Mossi, to finish when Narleski was removed for a pinchhitter in the tenth.

A double by Dave Pope scored Al Smith from first with the winning run, defeating Hoyt Wilhelm, a knuckleballer who entered the game i the eighth.

SAVE TIME, MONEY ON KITCHEN FLOORS

Why wear yourself out scrubbing your kitchen floor, or spend money constantly to wax it?

You don't have to do either one when you use Glaxo, the wonderful floor coating with the built-in seal against dirt. One application keeps your linoleum or asphalt tile shiny for months.

Glaxo dries in an hour to a water-clear, non-slip finish that defies dirt, grease and hard wear. Get up off your hands and knees, throw away the floor wax — use Glaxo!

First Ohio Stream Report Points To 'Good' Fishing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—While reports are still spotty, the outlook for Ohio fishermen this weekend is good, notably with crappies and bass.

That's the opinion of the State Division of Wildlife in its first weekly lake and stream report on conditions.

Division findings include:

Northwestern: Fair catches of crappies and catfish at Grand Reservoir or Lake St. Marys. Weekend outlook good, both in reservoir and streams, although some of latter are roily. Streams in Mercer, Ottawa, Auglaize, Crawford and Defiance counties in fair fishing condition, others roily.

Northeastern: Outlook fair, with best fishing expected in such lakes as Berlin and Milton in Mahoning County, Guilford in Columbiana, Pleasant Hill and Charles Mill in Ashland, and Chippewa in Medina. Some walleyes being taken in Pleasant Hill and Berlin reservoirs.

East Central and Southeastern: Fishing conditions good in such lakes as Piedmont, Burr Oak, Atwood, Leesville and Clendening, with some muskies being taken. Muskingum River clear and normal in Washington County, as are Wolf Creek and Meigs Creek in Morgan County. All Monroe County streams clear, with suckers being taken from riffles.

Central and Southern: State's best fishing expected in this area over weekend, although some streams roily. Delaware County streams, and Alum Creek and Blacklick in Franklin clear, with Big Walnut, Olentangy and Scioto roily. Rocky Fork Lake in Highland clearing, and during last week yielded nice catches of bass and muskies. Jackson Lake in Jackson County providing some large bass, some over eight pounds. Morrow County lakes and streams clear, with all types of fish being caught. Weekend outlook good.

Southwestern: Most waters in good shape, with Grand, Kiser, Cowan, Indian and Loramie lakes expected to provide heavy weekend action. Most streams in good condition, and limited trout fishing expected in Champaign County's Mad River and tributaries.

11 Changes Made In ABC Scoreboard

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — The American Bowling Congress scoreboard is due for a rest the remainder of this week after a big scoring splurge yesterday which resulted in 11 changes in the standings.

Booster teams take up most of the action the rest of the week, indicating scoring should subside plenty in comparison to yesterday's sharpshooting.

The singles division drew most of the fire, with six changes, highlighted by a bristling 704 by Dave Moffat, a Chicago bowling alley manager rolling in his seventh ABC. Moffat took over second place, behind Eddie Gerzine of Milwaukee, who leads with a 738. Gerzine also heads the all events with 1,938.

The day's best all-around performance was by Morrie Oppenheim, a 200-pound 18-year-old college student of Chicago, who drew within eight pins of Gerzine's all events lead with a 1,930 total on series of 653, 633, and 644.

The Cole Finder Mercury quintet soared to the top of the team standings Tuesday with a 3,015 total to tie Howard's Clothes, of St. Paul, Minn., who held it since opening night.

There were two changes in the doubles as Fred Waczula and John Wolner, of Middletown, Ohio, combined for a 1,241 total and fourth place while Joe Szymanski and Sherm Peters, of Toledo, Ohio slipped right behind in fifth with 1,235.

Jack Baum and Andy Hudoba, of Youngstown, Ohio, held their doubles lead with 1,270, while the Fighting Irish, of Dayton, Ohio top the booster standings with 2,795. Another Buckeye team, Farmers Banking Co., of West Liberty, punched out a 2,780 last night to gain the runnerup spot.

Tiger Jones Saves For Rainy Day

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ralph (Tiger) Jones, scrappy Brooklyn middleweight, is one of the fight-for-pay boys who isn't going to be caught short when he retires from the ring.

The 27-year-old boxer, who takes on Georgie Johnson in a nationally televised 10-rounder at the St. Louis Arena tomorrow night, finds a place for his ring earnings.

Jones, who turned pro in 1950, said he invested the first $20,000 he made into a trust for him and his family. His wife expects a baby next month, their first.

Then his next $10,000 went to buy a farm for his father in Virginia. Another $10,000 made a substantial down payment on a home.

Michigan State's basketball coach Forddy Anderson has a cousin with the identical name who coaches high school football at Ft. Wayne, Ind. Catholic Central.

First Ohio Stream Report Points To 'Good' Fishing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—While reports are still spotty, the outlook for Ohio fishermen this weekend is good, notably with crappies and bass.

That's the opinion of the State Division of Wildlife in its first weekly lake and stream report on conditions.

Division findings include:

Northwestern: Fair catches of crappies and catfish at Grand Reservoir or Lake St. Marys. Weekend outlook good, both in reservoir and streams, although some of latter are roily. Streams in Mercer, Ottawa, Auglaize, Crawford and Defiance counties in fair fishing condition, others roily.

Northeastern: Outlook fair, with best fishing expected in such lakes as Berlin and Milton in Mahoning County, Guilford in Columbiana, Pleasant Hill and Charles Mill in Ashland, and Chippewa in Medina. Some walleyes being taken in Pleasant Hill and Berlin reservoirs.

East Central and Southeastern: Fishing conditions good in such lakes as Piedmont, Burr Oak, Atwood, Leesville and Clendening, with some muskies being taken. Muskingum River clear and normal in Washington County, as are Wolf Creek and Meigs Creek in Morgan County. All Monroe County streams clear, with suckers being taken from riffles.

Central and Southern: State's best fishing expected in this area over weekend, although some streams roily. Delaware County streams, and Alum Creek and Blacklick in Franklin clear, with Big Walnut, Olentangy and Scioto roily. Rocky Fork Lake in Highland clearing, and during last week yielded nice catches of bass and muskies. Jackson Lake in Jackson County providing some large bass, some over eight pounds. Morrow County lakes and streams clear, with all types of fish being caught. Weekend outlook good.

Southwestern: Most waters in good shape, with Grand, Kiser, Cowan, Indian and Loramie lakes expected to provide heavy weekend action. Most streams in good condition, and limited trout fishing expected in Champaign County's Mad River and tributaries.

11 Changes Made In ABC Scoreboard

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — The American Bowling Congress scoreboard is due for a rest the remainder of this week after a big scoring splurge yesterday which resulted in 11 changes in the standings.

Booster teams take up most of the action the rest of the week, indicating scoring should subside plenty in comparison to yesterday's sharpshooting.

The singles division drew most of the fire, with six changes, highlighted by a bristling 704 by Dave Moffat, a Chicago bowling alley manager rolling in his seventh ABC. Moffat took over second place, behind Eddie Gerzine of Milwaukee, who leads with a 738. Gerzine also heads the all events with 1,938.

The day's best all-around performance was by Morrie Oppenheim, a 200-pound 18-year-old college student of Chicago, who drew within eight pins of Gerzine's all events lead with a 1,930 total on series of 653, 633, and 644.

The Cole Finder Mercury quintet soared to the top of the team standings Tuesday with a 3,015 total to tie Howard's Clothes, of St. Paul, Minn., who held it since opening night.

There were two changes in the doubles as Fred Waczula and John Wolner, of Middletown, Ohio, combined for a 1,241 total and fourth place while Joe Szymanski and Sherm Peters, of Toledo, Ohio slipped right behind in fifth with 1,235.

Jack Baum and Andy Hudoba, of Youngstown, Ohio, held their doubles lead with 1,270, while the Fighting Irish, of Dayton, Ohio top the booster standings with 2,795. Another Buckeye team, Farmers Banking Co., of West Liberty, punched out a 2,780 last night to gain the runnerup spot.

Tiger Jones Saves For Rainy Day

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ralph (Tiger) Jones, scrappy Brooklyn middleweight, is one of the fight-for-pay boys who isn't going to be caught short when he retires from the ring.

The 27-year-old boxer, who takes on Georgie Johnson in a nationally televised 10-rounder at the St. Louis Arena tomorrow night, finds a place for his ring earnings.

Jones, who turned pro in 1950, said he invested the first $20,000 he made into a trust for him and his family. His wife expects a baby next month, their first.

Then his next $10,000 went to buy a farm for his father in Virginia. Another $10,000 made a substantial down payment on a home.

Michigan State's basketball coach Forddy Anderson has a cousin with the identical name who coaches high school football at Ft. Wayne, Ind. Catholic Central.

'Elder Statesman' Of Ohio Athletics Nears Retirement

By FRITZ HOWELL

His passing from the picture marks the end of an era.

He's just about the last of the grand old men who have written glowing chapters in Ohio's saga of sports. Now, with 65 years of tense activity resting lightly on his shoulders, he's dropping out of the parade to "fish, travel and read who-dun-its."

For 34 years the fiery Frenchman, born in Canada's Algoma hills area Feb. 3, 1890, has guided Ohio Wesleyan's athletics. Until 1946, when he gave up the football reins, his Bisop teams had won 120, lost 98 and tied 14 games.

(pronounces it go-shay) never had a season in which he didn't lose at least one game—but he has never lost a friend.

He came into the Ohio picture along with such standout coaches as Walter Livingston of Denison, Boyd Chambers of Cincinnati, Ernie Godfrey of Wittenberg, George Rider of Miami, Don Drumm of Marietta and E. C. Boles of Wooster—the men who dominated the scene a few decades ago.

Of that group only Drumm and Rider and Godfrey are still active, Godfrey having shifted to Ohio State in 1929 where he still is one of the top-rated football technicians.

Gauthier, Godfrey and Livingston had some great football battles back in the old Ohio Conference and Buckeye Conference days. They were the three leaders in the formation of the Buckeye loop, which in its day was as rugged as the present Mid-American Conference.

Gauthier is a little fellow only in physical stature. Back in 1910 he entered Michigan State, played freshman football and was on the scrub team as a sophomore. As a junior he stood 5 feet and 6 inches and weighed 133 pounds.

His coach said he was too small for varsity ball, and he missed the opener against Michigan—a game the Wolverines won handily. George moved in at quarterback for the second game, and that was the last game Michigan State lost until he graduated.

For 17 straight victories he didn't miss a minute of play. The little fellow also won four basketball letters, captaining the team as a senior. In 1912, against Ohio State, Gauthier pulled his team to a 32-20 victory after being 20-0 behind at the half, and the following year led the squad to 13-7 wins over Michigan and Wisconsin.

He went back to Michigan State as assistant coach after graduating, and he became head coach in 1918. His big geat was a 12-9 win over Notre Dame which halted a three-year winnng streak for Knute Rockne and his outstandng star, George Gipp.

Gauthier came to Wesleyan in 1921—an appointee of Branch Rickey—and he has held high the torch since then. His Bishops beat Michigan State 9-6 in 1922 and 19-14 in 1923, wrecked Michigan's stadium dedication 17-7 in 1928, and upset powerful Syracuse 6-0 in 1928 and 19-12 in 1932. His 5-0 loss to Ohio State was the only blot on his 1922 record.

He peeled three bushels of potatoes every morning, and delivered laundry in the evening to earn his way through college, and he's been busy ever since. His ceaseless energy is his outstanding trait.

But now he's reached the age when educators step down. He and Mrs. Gauthier, whom he married June 27, 1916, the year after she was graduated by Michigan State, plan to go to Hawaii next winter. They have other winter trips on the agenda for following years.

The summers they'll spend at George's cabin at Blind River, Canada, about eight miles from his birthplace. He's an avid fisherman and reader of mystery stories and he'll find time for both in the northern wilds.

He'll also work on a "History of Athletics at Ohio Wesleyan University," but he said he wouldn't let that chore interfere with his fishing.

Athletics has changed, he recalled, during his long regime.

"I remember," he mused, "that we used to learn football by scrimmaging three hours a day. Now much of the teaching is through moving pictures and talks. We had one coach for the entire squad—now they have a coach for every position.

"In the old days we'd take a squad of 100 or so, and weed out all but 12 or so, and those 12 would go all the way. I believe the boys of those days were more rugged and better conditioned. Now the days of specialization force coaches to use bigger squads.

"When I was new in athletics, we used the playing material which came to us through normal enrollment. Now, to make a showing, you have to go after material. I liked the old way best."

George will be around for his personally-conducted high school team relays April 30—a colorful brainchild which annually attracts more than 1,000 of the state's best scholastic cinder stars.

If all his friends are there to bid him farewell, Selby Field which he designed will not be big enough to hold 'em.

Snead, Hogan Getting Eye In Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Snead or Hogan? Who will win the 19th Masters golf crown?

Either one of them could, but maybe neither will. There are many more fine golfers in the field of 78 who could capture this tournament and earn one of golf's most cherished titles.

Fifty-nine professionals and 19 amateurs were assigned tee times for today's first round of the 1955 Masters, which in 21 years has grown in prestige until it ranks second only to the National Open.

The Masters was born a full-blown success in 1934. Grand slam king Bobby Jones, who helped design the Augusta National golf course where the Masters is played came out of retirement to compete in it.

There were two schools of thought in pretournament speculation about the possible winner of this year's classic. One leaned toward the younger golfers, pointing to the way they had stolen much of the limelight during the winter tour. The other stuck with the veterans, pointing to the tremendous pressure generated in this prestige-loaded event.

Sam Snead, three-time Masters winner and the defending champion, and Ben Hogan, a two-time winner who lost to Snead in a playoff last year, head the corps of veterans.

Birdie Chirps Sourly About His Pitchers

A year ago the Reds came up with rookie pitchers Art Fowler and Corky Valentine who combined to win 24 games and help the Cincinnatians to a fifth place finish, only a game out of fourth. This year the crop of rookie pitchers figured to be better. But yesterday Tebbetts said:

"There is in every major league training camp a young pitcher who captures the imagination. We do not have one and, frankly, it is a disappointment."

But Tebbetts now is hopeful that Maurice Fisher, an acquisition from the "B" squad may be the rookie he is looking for and he's hopeful the hitting in the last two exhibition games is an indication the Redlegs are about to unload some of that power that will help to take up the pitching slack.

Tebbetts also called Valentine a "particular disappointment" thus far in spring training.

He asserted a young pitcher such as Valentine should improve after a year in the majors.

"Corky hasn't and it is not because he hasn't worked hard, for he has," said the Redleg pilot. "Teams we've met this spring have teed off on Corky as though he were a batting practice robot."

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The injury hoodoo that has run with Bobby Thomson since he hooked up with the Milwaukee Braves threatened again today to keep him sidelined on opening day.

Thomson, pushing aside chances that 1955 will turn out like last year, said he'll "be ready to go" when the Braves open their home season against Cincinnati Tuesday at County Stadium. He looked forward to the coming campaign and said he wants "just a good year, for a change."

His immediate problem was an ailing right shoulder that brought him into town this week for examination and treatment.

'Elder Statesman' Of Ohio Athletics Nears Retirement

By FRITZ HOWELL

His passing from the picture marks the end of an era.

He's just about the last of the grand old men who have written glowing chapters in Ohio's saga of sports. Now, with 65 years of dense activity resting lightly on his shoulders, he's dropping out of the parade to "fish, travel and read who-dun-its."

For 34 years the fiery Frenchman, born in Canada's Algoma hills area Feb. 3, 1890, has guided Ohio Wesleyan's athletics. Until 1946, when he gave up the football reins, his Bisop teams had won 120, lost 98 and tied 14 games.

(pronounces it go-shay) never had a season in which he didn't lose at least one game—but he has never lost a friend.

He came into the Ohio picture along with such standout coaches as Walter Livingston of Denison, Boyd Chambers of Cincinnati, Ernie Godfrey of Wittenberg, George Rider of Miami, Don Drumm of Marietta and E. C. Boles of Wooster—the men who dominated the scene a few decades ago.

Of that group only Drumm and Rider and Godfrey are still active, Godfrey having shifted to Ohio State in 1929 where he still is one of the top-rated football technicians.

Gauthier, Godfrey and Livingston had some great football battles back in the old Ohio Conference and Buckeye Conference days. They were the three leaders in the formation of the Buckeye loop, which in its day was as rugged as the present Mid-American Conference.

Gauthier is a little fellow only in physical stature. Back in 1910 he entered Michigan State, played freshman football and was on the scrub team as a sophomore. As a junior he stood 5 feet and 6 inches and weighed 133 pounds.

His coach said he was too small for varsity ball, and he missed the opener against Michigan—a game the Wolverines won handily. George moved in at quarterback for the second game, and that was the last game Michigan State lost until he graduated.

For 17 straight victories he didn't miss a minute of play. The little fellow also won four basketball letters, captaining the team as a senior. In 1912, against Ohio State, Gauthier pulled his team to a 32-20 victory after being 20-0 behind at the half, and the following year led the squad to 13-7 wins over Michigan and Wisconsin.

He went back to Michigan State as assistant coach after graduating, and he became head coach in 1918. His big geat was a 12-9 win over Notre Dame which halted a three-year winnng streak for Knute Rockne and his outstandng star, George Gipp.

Gauthier came to Wesleyan in 1921—an appointee of Branch Rickey—and he has held high the torch since then. His Bishops beat Michigan State 9-6 in 1922 and 19-14 in 1923, wrecked Michigan's stadium dedication 17-7 in 1928, and upset powerful Syracuse 6-0 in 1928 and 19-12 in 1932. His 5-0 loss to Ohio State was the only blot on his 1922 record.

He peeled three bushels of potatoes every morning, and delivered laundry in the evening to earn his way through college, and he's been busy ever since. His ceaseless energy is his outstanding trait.

But now he's reached the age when educators step down. He and Mrs. Gauthier, whom he married June 27, 1916, the year after she was graduated by Michigan State, plan to go to Hawaii next winter. They have other winter trips on the agenda for following years.

The summers they'll spend at George's cabin at Blind River, Canada, about eight miles from his birthplace. He's an avid fisherman and reader of mystery stories and he'll find time for both in the northern wilds.

He'll also work on a "History of Athletics at Ohio Wesleyan University," but he said he wouldn't let that chore interfere with his fishing.

Athletics has changed, he recalled, during his long regime.

"I remember," he mused, "that we used to learn football by scrimmaging three hours a day. Now much of the teaching is through moving pictures and talks. We had one coach for the entire squad—now they have a coach for every position.

"In the old days we'd take a squad of 100 or so, and weed out all but 12 or so, and those 12 would go all the way. I believe the boys of those days were more rugged and better conditioned. Now the days of specialization force coaches to use bigger squads.

"When I was new in athletics, we used the playing material which came to us through normal enrollment. Now, to make a showing, you have to go after material. I liked the old way best."

George will be around for his personally-conducted high school team relays April 30—a colorful brainchild which annually attracts more than 1,000 of the state's best scholastic cinder stars.

If all his friends are there to bid him farewell, Selby Field which he designed will not be big enough to hold 'em.

Snead, Hogan Getting Eye In Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Snead or Hogan? Who will win the 19th Masters golf crown?

Either one of them could, but maybe neither will. There are many more fine golfers in the field of 78 who could capture this tournament and earn one of golf's most cherished titles.

Fifty-nine professionals and 19 amateurs were assigned tee times for today's first round of the 1955 Masters, which in 21 years has grown in prestige until it ranks second only to the National Open.

The Masters was born a full-blown success in 1934. Grand slam king Bobby Jones, who helped design the Augusta National golf course where the Masters is played came out of retirement to compete in it.

There were two schools of thought in pretournament speculation about the possible winner of this year's classic. One leaned toward the younger golfers, pointing to the way they had stolen much of the limelight during the winter tour. The other stuck with the veterans, pointing to the tremendous pressure generated in this prestige-loaded event.

Sam Snead, three-time Masters winner and the defending champion, and Ben Hogan, a two-time winner who lost to Snead in a playoff last year, head the corps of veterans.

Birdie Chirps Sourly About His Pitchers

A year ago the Reds came up with rookie pitchers Art Fowler and Corky Valentine who combined to win 24 games and help the Cincinnatians to a fifth place finish, only a game out of fourth. This year the crop of rookie pitchers figured to be better. But yesterday Tebbetts said:

"There is in every major league training camp a young pitcher who captures the imagination. We do not have one and, frankly, it is a disappointment."

But Tebbetts now is hopeful that Maurice Fisher, an acquisition from the "B" squad may be the rookie he is looking for and he's hopeful the hitting in the last two exhibition games is an indication the Redlegs are about to unload some of that power that will help to take up the pitching slack.

Tebbetts also called Valentine a "particular disappointment" thus far in spring training.

He asserted a young pitcher such as Valentine should improve after a year in the majors.

"Corky hasn't and it is not because he hasn't worked hard, for he has," said the Redleg pilot. "Teams we've met this spring have teed off on Corky as though he were a batting practice robot."

Motorists, Bicycle Riders Given Warnings By Police Chief

Merriman Asks More Caution Be Observed

Reducing Speeds, Yield Right Of Way Two Suggestions

"With warm weather coming on," he said. "There will be more traffic, both in cars and on bikes. We want to keep our accident record down low."

Chief Merriman first directed his warning at adult motorists. He pointed out that there have been many violations of failure to yield the right of way, not only to other cars but to pedestrians.

"At an intersection," he said, "motorists must wait until the pedestrian has crossed before starting up. This is so even if the light is caution and the pedestrian is caught in the middle of the street when the light changes to red. Give the pedestrian time to cross to the curb."

* * *

SCHOOL ZONES were also discussed by the chief. He said motorists were "zooming" through the zones, 'ignorant that young children were in the area."

"Young kids don't know about traffic laws," Chief Merriman pointed out. "We reduce the speed in these zones because kids do run out into the street without warning."

The chief personally aids children in crossing the Court and High St. intersection each morning. But, he added, a policeman cannot be stationed at each school crossing—"we just don't have the men."

Cyclists also came under fire from Chief Merriman. He said youths ignore the fact that Ohio law puts bicycles in the vehicle class. They are subject to the same laws.

"Riders have to observe signs, traffic signals and markings same as a motorist," the chief pointed out. "Bikes ridden at night must have a front light and tail light, each one must be seen for 500 feet."

Chief Merriman also noted that there have been a number of accidents of cars colliding with bikes. He added that a disturbing number of these mishaps occur in back alleys plus on main streets.

* * *

"BICYCLE RIDERS must know that they have to give hand signals just like a motorist," the chief declared. "They have to keep to their side of the road and stop at red lights and stop signs too."

On the question of traffic signals, Chief Merriman said he has noticed an increasing amount of drivers who "try to beat the caution light". He said these drivers, when they see the light change to caution, step on the gas rather than slow down.

"They don't have to race through that light," he said. "Usually they have their mind on the light and forget everything else. We have had a great many accidents where each motorist said he had the light with him."

Chief Merriman warned cyclists that they should observe the same rules of courtesy as adults. And he asked that motorists slow down in residential sections because children will be outside more during the warmer months.

Profile Of Sir Anthony

Eden Said Sharp Contrast To Bitter-Tongued Father

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—When young Anthony Eden first stepped out on the British political stage soon after World War I, he impressed his associates by being such a contrast to his father.

Although capable of outbursts of temper at home or in his office, Anthony was unfailingly polite and urbane in company, on the public platform or in the House of Commons. His self-control was almost too complete.

This was not at all like his father Sir William Eden, seventh baronet of West Aucklanj, country gentleman, artist, amateur boxer, ardent hunter and gardener. Sir William is remembered as a man who could be magnificently angry.

Sir William was the master of Windlestone, a fine estate in Durham County. He inherited a substantial fortune.

Red-bearded, 6 feet tall, he is still remembered in the county as a sharp-tongued judge familiarly called "Seven and Six." The fine he habitually imposed for minor misdeeds was 7 shellings and sixpence, and no nonsense.

It is said Anthony tried deliberately—and with great success—to suppress the family temper in public. In his earlier days as foreign secretary, he was known to hurl a book across a room, or throw an unsatisfactory document at the head of a blundering junior. But it doesn't happen any more. The balanced mood has become his essential nature.

Eden was born at Windlestone June 12, 1897. His mother Lady Sybil Frances Grey Eden called him "the quiet one" of her sons, the baronetcy in the family passed on to his older brother Sir Timothy, who conducts a school in Hampshire.

Eden was reared in the solid and secure England of the century's early years, surrounded by the amenities of fine living—a stately home with a park for a front yard, pictures, Hepplewhite and Sheraton furniture and cultured society.

The fierce father with the red beard often lectured sternly but gave his sons every possible advantage. He went to Eton, and, after war service, completed his education at Christ Church, Oxford. The emphasis was on Oriental languages, and his scholarship was so brilliant that one of his Oxford tutors predicted, "He will be foreign secretary by the time he is 40." He made it at 38.

A gentle influence in his formative years was his mother. The late Lady Eden, Red Cross nurse in the first World War, was an understanding woman who knew how to shield her "quiet one" from the tempests stirred up by Sir William. To Anthony she was "dear little Mummie." As his political fortunes soared, she wrote of him:

"They say that famous men were often the most mischievous of boys, but Anthony was not like that. He never gave me the slightest trouble. He was the kindest of sons."

He broke away from that kindly influence and interest in faraway places became an Eden characteristic. It was said of him that he was born with a feeling for being a foreign secretary. He traveled extensively.

After the war, in which he served with distinction as an officer of the King's Royal Rifle Corps, he considered a military career. But politics was the greater attraction. After an initial defeat, he won election in 1923 to the House of Commons from the Warwick and Leamington constituency, which he has represented ever since.

He was married in the crucial days of the 1923 political campaign to Beatrice Beckett, attractive daughter of banker Sir Gervase Beckett. She at first seemed the ideal wife of a man deeply immersed in public affairs.

But her interest flagged quickly and the Eden home soon was temperamentally divided—she preferring a bright social life, while he found in the ministries of Westminster the environment his nature craved.

The had two children—in 1924 Simon, who was killed in an air mission in Burma, and in 1930 Nicholas, now employed in a London bank. Father and the surviving son are deeply attached to one another.

But the marriage drifted into frustration. Eden obtained a friendly divorce in 1950 on grounds of desertion, Mrs. Eden having gone to the United States to live. There was some concern that the divorce might jeopardize Eden's political career in a country in which an established church takes an uncompromising stand on the indissolubility of marriage. But it aroused surprisingly little disputation.

Ohioan's Visit To Mamie Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Ohio woman's Washington visit, scheduled to include a chat with Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, was in danger today of being wrecked.

Miss Ruth Campbell of Hamilton, a paraplegic who has gotten around in a wheel chair for 28 years, has taken ill. Her sister, Miss Lillian Campbell, described the ailment as a kidney attack.

Also, White House aides said they didn't know when Mrs. Eisenhower will return from the President's Gettysburg farm.

Motorists, Bicycle Riders Given Warnings By Police Chief

Merriman Asks More Caution Be Observed

Reducing Speeds, Yield Right Of Way Two Suggestions

"With warm weather coming on," he said. "There will be more traffic, both in cars and on bikes. We want to keep our accident record down low."

Chief Merriman first directed his warning at adult motorists. He pointed out that there have been many violations of failure to yield the right of way, not only to other cars but to pedestrians.

"At an intersection," he said, "motorists must wait until the pedestrian has crossed before starting up. This is so even if the light is caution and the pedestrian is caught in the middle of the street when the light changes to red. Give the pedestrian time to cross to the curb."

* * *

SCHOOL ZONES were also discussed by the chief. He said motorists were "zooming" through the zones, 'ignorant that young children were in the area."

"Young kids don't know about traffic laws," Chief Merriman pointed out. "We reduce the speed in these zones because kids do run out into the street without warning."

The chief personally aids children in crossing the Court and High St. intersection each morning. But, he added, a policeman cannot be stationed at each school crossing—"we just don't have the men."

Cyclists also came under fire from Chief Merriman. He said youths ignore the fact that Ohio law puts bicycles in the vehicle class. They are subject to the same laws.

"Riders have to observe signs, traffic signals and markings same as a motorist," the chief pointed out. "Bikes ridden at night must have a front light and tail light, each one must be seen for 500 feet."

Chief Merriman also noted that there have been a number of accidents of cars colliding with bikes. He added that a disturbing number of these mishaps occur in back alleys plus on main streets.

* * *

"BICYCLE RIDERS must know that they have to give hand signals just like a motorist," the chief declared. "They have to keep to their side of the road and stop at red lights and stop signs too."

On the question of traffic signals, Chief Merriman said he has noticed an increasing amount of drivers who "try to beat the caution light". He said these drivers, when they see the light change to caution, step on the gas rather than slow down.

"They don't have to race through that light," he said. "Usually they have their mind on the light and forget everything else. We have had a great many accidents where each motorist said he had the light with him."

Chief Merriman warned cyclists that they should observe the same rules of courtesy as adults. And he asked that motorists slow down in residential sections because children will be outside more during the warmer months.

Profile Of Sir Anthony

Eden Said Sharp Contrast To Bitter-Tongued Father

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—When young Anthony Eden first stepped out on the British political stage soon after World War I, he impressed his associates by being such a contrast to his father.

Although capable of outbursts of temper at home or in his office, Anthony was unfailingly polite and urbane in company, on the public platform or in the House of Commons. His self-control was almost too complete.

This was not at all like his father Sir William Eden, seventh baronet of West Aucklanj, country gentleman, artist, amateur boxer, ardent hunter and gardener. Sir William is remembered as a man who could be magnificently angry.

Sir William was the master of Windlestone, a fine estate in Durham County. He inherited a substantial fortune.

Red-bearded, 6 feet tall, he is still remembered in the county as a sharp-tongued judge familiarly called "Seven and Six." The fine he habitually imposed for minor misdeeds was 7 shellings and sixpence, and no nonsense.

It is said Anthony tried deliberately—and with great success—to suppress the family temper in public. In his earlier days as foreign secretary, he was known to hurl a book across a room, or throw an unsatisfactory document at the head of a blundering junior. But it doesn't happen any more. The balanced mood has become his essential nature.

Eden was born at Windlestone June 12, 1897. His mother Lady Sybil Frances Grey Eden called him "the quiet one" of her sons, the baronetcy in the family passed on to his older brother Sir Timothy, who conducts a school in Hampshire.

Eden was reared in the solid and secure England of the century's early years, surrounded by the amenities of fine living—a stately home with a park for a front yard, pictures, Hepplewhite and Sheraton furniture and cultured society.

The fierce father with the red beard often lectured sternly but gave his sons every possible advantage. He went to Eton, and, after war service, completed his education at Christ Church, Oxford. The emphasis was on Oriental languages, and his scholarship was so brilliant that one of his Oxford tutors predicted, "He will be foreign secretary by the time he is 40." He made it at 38.

A gentle influence in his formative years was his mother. The late Lady Eden, Red Cross nurse in the first World War, was an understanding woman who knew how to shield her "quiet one" from the tempests stirred up by Sir William. To Anthony she was "dear little Mummie." As his political fortunes soared, she wrote of him:

"They say that famous men were often the most mischievous of boys, but Anthony was not like that. He never gave me the slightest trouble. He was the kindest of sons."

He broke away from that kindly influence and interest in faraway places became an Eden characteristic. It was said of him that he was born with a feeling for being a foreign secretary. He traveled extensively.

After the war, in which he served with distinction as an officer of the King's Royal Rifle Corps, he considered a military career. But politics was the greater attraction. The had two children—in 1924 Simon, who was killed in an air mission in Burma, and in 1930 Nicholas, now employed in a London bank. Father and the surviving son are deeply attached to one another.

But the marriage drifted into frustration. Eden obtained a friendly divorce in 1950 on grounds of desertion, Mrs. Eden having gone to the United States to live. There was some concern that the divorce might jeopardize Eden's political career in a country in which an established church takes an uncompromising stand on the indissolubility of marriage. But it aroused surprisingly little disputation.
